Dewey Blasts Charges GOP Attempting To Kill Price Support Program

Republican Nominee Says Demos Trying To Deceive Farmers

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today accused the Truman administration of "an intentional fabrication designed to deceive the producers of food in our country."

The Republican presidential nominee made the charge in replying to what he called Democratic accusations that the GOP is trying to wreck the government's price support program.

The New York Governor also disclosed at a news conference that he will make four rear platform speeches from his train in President Truman's home state of Missouri.

Dewey will open his campaign with a major speech in Des Moines, Iowa, Monday night, then head for the West Coast. His Missouri appearances will be on October 2 on his way back to Albany.

Confers With Farm Leaders

Dewey called a news conference to issue a statement on Republican farm policy after he had conferred for more than three hours with two GOP farm leaders in Congress—Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt), and chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, and Rep. Clifford R. Hope (R-Kan), chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Dewey's statement said the "consumer and the farmer have an equal stake in sound government support of prices," and he added:

"A firm program of price supports at reasonably levels will benefit both producers and consumers."

He said the price support program enacted last July by the Republican controlled Congress "recognizes the necessity of such protection for both farmers and consumers." Then he said:

"I subscribe firmly to its principles, both for the present and the future."

Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, recently accused Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan of deliberately trying to keep prices high.

That brought a retort from Mr. Truman and Brannan that the Republicans were trying to kill the price support program.

"Created Out Of Thin Air"

Noting those charges, Dewey commented:

That the accusations were "created out of thin air, out of whole cloth and are an intentional fabrication designed to deceive the producers of food in our country."

Dewey also said "the whole administration is making it (the charge) and they are making it up."

The New Yorker, in his statement, said the farm bill enacted by Congress "is the best guarantee to American farmers of the Republican Party's interest in the problems involved in the all-important job of producing food and other agricultural products for 140,000,000 Americans, plus additional millions of people throughout the world."

He said that if America's farmers are to be expected to produce "the volume and quality of food necessary to meet these great obligations, they must be protected."

Truman Off On "Give 'Em Hell" Tour

Jones Calls On Dixie To Vote Republican

[By The Associated Press]

President Truman traveled toward the corn fields of Iowa today for the starter of a 100-speech campaign tour carefully planned to harvest the votes he needs in November.

At the same time, new trouble broke out for him in Texas, normally a Democratic garden. There, Publisher Jesse H. Jones, of the Houston Chronicle and long a prominent figure in the Roosevelt administration, called for the South to vote Republican.

And at Albany, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, was laying his own plans to garner farm votes — along with others — for the Republican ticket he heads.

Mr. Truman showed no signs of being daunted.

Will "Give Them Hell"

"I'm going to fight hard and give them hell," he said as his 17-car special train left Washington for a 9,500-mile trip to the West Coast and back. He agreed with Sen. Barkley, of Kentucky, his running mate who came down to see him off: "It's a victorious trip."

Mr. Truman's first major speech of the trip comes today at the national plowing match at Dexter, Iowa. Station WHO, Des Moines, will broadcast the address on a spot basis as it is delivered at 1:05 p. m. EST; it will be re-broadcast nationally (MBS) during the evening.

Other major Truman speeches as the train rolls westward are set for Denver, Monday; Salt Lake City, Tuesday night; San Francisco, Wednesday night, and Los Angeles, Thursday night. Scores of rear platform talks will be given along the way.

A special women's day date for Mr. Truman and Sen. Barkley, was announced for September 27 by the women's division of the Democratic National Committee.

The two are to speak on a nationwide broadcast (ABC) at an hour

Warren Attacks "Progressives"

PUEBLO, Colo., Sept. 17 (AP)—In a fighting mood, Gov. Earl Warren tonight accused American - born "progressives" of using "every device known to conspiracy to discredit America ninstitutions and divide the people in the 1948 elections."

The Republican vice-presidential candidate did not mention Henry Wallace's third party Progressives by name, but by implication he left little doubt of the identity of the target of his attack.

Basing his prepared speech tonight on the occasion of Constitution Day and the 161st anniversary of the United States Constitution, Warren told a Republican rally at Memorial Hall it was "about time that we start talking. . .about what is right with America.

"A stealthy appeal, under the guise of showing what is wrong with America, is being made to the credulous, the cynical and the weak. Neighbors are poisoned against neighbors.

"Races are being inflamed against races. Classes are being created and arrayed against each other. Every device know to conspiracy is used to discredit our institutions and divide our people.

"Unfortunately, even some who were born in this country have become enamored of these false gods and are preaching the doctrine of despair."

Wallace Sees Another "Artificial War Scare"

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace tonight lashed out at what he termed a "Washington war-preparations pork barrel."

The Progressive Party nominee for President of the United States asserted that both Republican and Democratic politicians were "promoting" a military program, and predicted another "artificial war scare" would interrupt United States-Russian negotiations.

His speech was prepared for a political rally in Edgerton Sports Arena sponsored by the Monroe County Wallace-for-President Committee.

Bizarre Affair

Autopsy Reveals Woman Shot Before Plane Crash

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP) — Police pondered today the strange case of what appeared to be murder in the sky.

The bizarre affair came to light following the crash last night of a small plane carrying a man and a 28-year-old woman.

An autopsy disclosed three bullets wounds in the body of the woman, identified by authorities as Hannah Laufer.

Medical Examiner William Benenson said Miss Laufer had been shot and killed before the crash, in which the pilot, 31-year-old Jesus Meneau Monleon, perished. An unhappy love affair was indicated.

The small, rented plane plunged to earth in remote marshland near the New York International Airport after several efforts to land both at International and LaGuardia Fields.

In the wreckage of the plane, police found a letter which they said indicated Monleon had planned at one time to kill Miss Laufer and then take his own life. Later, however, it indicated he had abandoned the idea and planned only to do away with himself, police said.

The medical examiner's office said the note was sealed in an envelope addressed to the dead woman. It was written yesterday but had not been mailed.

"It indicated the writer was desperately in love and doubted that his love was returned," Assistant Medical Examiner Richard Grimes said.

Grimes released these excerpts from the note:

"For a while I thought that I should have to take you with me out of this world. I know now that is impossible. x x x It's quite late now. You are always in my heart and mind. Adieu, my dearest. x x I'm taking leave of you."

MURDER IN SKY?-- A policeman inspects the wreckage of a small plane which crashed near International Airport, New York. An autopsy disclosed that Hannah Laufer (inset), 28, whose body was found in the wreckage along with that of Jesus Meneau Monleon, 31, experienced combat pilot who flew for the French and British during the war, had been shot and killed before the plane crashed. Two steel-jacketed bullets and fragments of a third were found in Miss Laufer's body. (Story at bottom of page)

Hyderabad Gives Up After 109-Hour War

Capitulates To India As Hereditary Nizam Orders Cease-Fire

NEW DELHI, Sept. 17 (AP) — The princely state of Hyderabad yielded to India today, and the hereditary Nizam ordered his people to adjust themselves to a "new mode" of democratic life.

The state's Moslem ruler, reportedly the richest man in the world, ordered a cease-fire effective at 5 p. m. (6:30 a. m. Eastern Standard Time), after 109 hours of fighting. Indian troops, pressing in from all sides, had approached to within less than 50 miles from his capital.

He was the last of 562 princes to give in to Hindu India or Moslem Pakistan, the two dominions created by the partitioning of old British India a year ago.

Government Resigns

The 62-year-old Nizam, Gen. Sir Mir Osam Ali Khan, accepted the resignation of his government and agreed to the demands put forward by New Delhi when Indian troops swept over the borders of the hemed-in state at 4 a. m. Monday.

Besides ordering the cease-fire, he outlawed the Razakars, fanatical bands of Moslem volunteers, and agreed to stationing of Indian troops in Hyderabad.

He also ordered his delegation to the United Nations in Paris to withdraw the case against India as "I want to begin a new chapter of friendliness with India." The Security Council had agreed only yesterday to take up the case on Monday.

(In Karachi, Pakistan, Hyderabad circles said the Razakar organization had been disbanded and its leader, Qasim Rizvi, was expected to reach Karachi soon).

Temporary Cabinet Formed

The Nizam advised New Delhi that he would form a new government tomorrow. Political observers here said the new regime would have to be approved by the Indian government.

It was considered possible that Prime Minister Nehru would demand that the Nizam personally come to New Delhi for negotiations. In the past the Nizam has refused to leave his state for the talks and instead sent various ministers.

The Nizam said he had formed a temporary cabinet including his eldest son, the Prince of Berar, who is commander in chief of the Hyderabad army. The present Nizam, the seventh in the line of succession, has reigned for 37 years. His dynasty was founded by Asaf Jah in 1712.

Injured Film Star May Become 'Sleeping Beauty'

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 17 (INS) — Rita Johnson, mysteriously injured film star may become a "sleeping beauty" and remain unconscious indefinitely.

This fear was expressed today by her physician, Dr. Lee Siegel. He said he was deeply concerned over the actress' continued comatose condition. She has been unconscious for 11 days.

The screen player suffered a severe head injury when, apparently, a heavy hair dryer fell on her. A brain operation during which a large blood clot was removed was performed eight days ago.

Lana Turner Expecting Stork Next Spring

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 17 (AP)—Lana Turner is expecting a baby next April or May, her studio announced today.

A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer representative said Miss Turner, the bride of Millionaire Sportsman Bob Topping, telephoned from New York with the news.

800 Kids Lose School Because Of Wasp Nests

ATLANTA, Sept. 17 (AP)—Eight hundred school kids lost their building today because of wasps.

Assistant Fulton County Police Chief E. G. Fitzgerald said a maintenance man accidentally set afire the $250,000 E. Rivers Grammar School in Atlanta's fashionable north side while burning out wasp nests under the roof eaves.

The building was gutted. School had been dismissed an hour earlier.

Army Cargo To Be Loaded At Seattle

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17 (AP)—Movement of strikebound Army cargo by union stevedores from Seattle was assured tonight.

And the Army was reported trying to line up union help to handle Army cargoes in other major West Coast ports.

Civilian cargoes remained idle, however, in the 16th day of the crippling West Coast maritime strike.

These were the day's developments:

1. Col. William H. Donaldson, Jr., Seattle port commander, confirmed that CIO stevedoring gangs would begin loading military cargoes for the Far East under a "separate peace" contract with the stevedoring firm of Griffiths and Sprague.

2. The Army disclosed it was holding up $1,300,000 in payments due local stevedoring firms which announced they would have nothing to do with Harry Bridges' union until he signed a non-Communist affidavit.

3. The Army announced it had cancelled its contracts with four San Francisco stevedoring firms and would call for new bids tomorrow.

4. CIO warehousemen called on CIO President Philip Murray to recommend that the CIO repudiate endorsement of Harry S. Truman because of the Army's alleged "strike-breaking."

FBI Director Hoover Reported Seriously Ill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (INS)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover tonight was reported seriously ill with bronchial pneumonia.

Headline-Hunting Charge Is Tossed At Sen. Ferguson

Indict-Reds-Now Call Irks Clark

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — Attorney General Clark accused Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) tonight of hunting headlines because of his suggestion that Clark immediately seek indictments against known Communists "in and out of government."

The Cabinet officer issued a statement directed to Ferguson, telling the Senator bluntly:

"I would appreciate it if you would quit trying to claim credit for the work of the FBI and the Department of Justice and keep your political activity out of the field of serious prosecution of offenses under federal statutes."

Replies Through Press

Ferguson, who heads a Senate subcommittee investigating reports of subversive influences in the government, had forwarded his indict-Communists-now suggestion to Clark from Detroit.

The Attorney General said, however, that he read about it in the press before he received a copy of the communication. For that reason, he said, he was replying by the same means.

"I am surprised," Clark wrote, "that one who claims to be 'a lawyer of some experience' would release 'tips' to the press on most confidential criminal matters your informant told you were being investigated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation or ordered prosecuted by the Department of Justice.

"Your indefatigable desire for headlines in this regard will prove very detrimental to the prosecution of important cases. x x x

"You know that neither you nor the committee has uneathed anything on subversive matters that the FBI did not know and the Department of Justice had not already presented to the federal grand juries.

Indictments Expected Soon

"Again I ask you to furnish to the proper authorities the names of any Communists presently working in the executive branch of the government so that proper action may be taken."

Ferguson's suggestion coincided with reports that the Justice Department is on the point of seeking indictments against a number of former government employes believed to have Communist connections.

Alex H. Campbell, Assistant Attorney General, would neither confirm nor deny reports that grand juries are to be summoned soon in various cities to hear evidence in the alleged Communist cases.

Campbell did say, however, that "an investigation has been going on for months and is continuing."

Rail Unions Plan To Take Strike Vote

Talks Between Roads, 16 Groups Collapse

CHICAGO, Sept. 17—(AP)—Wage talks between the railroads and their 1,000,000 non-operating workers collapsed today and a union spokesman said, "We are taking immediate steps for a strike vote."

Under the dispute-settling provisions of the National Railway Labor Act, either side can ask the National (railway) Mediation Board to intervene.

However, G. E. Leighty, chairman of the labor conference committee, said: "We have not and will not ask for the services of the National Mediation Board. We are spreading a strike vote among the workers immediately."

Board May Be Called In

A spokesman for the employers said his group has not yet asked the mediation board to inject itself into the dispute. Asked if such a step is expected, he said he thinks that is the plan.

The Railroad Labor Act provides for both mediation and intervention by a presidential fact-finding board before a strike can legally be called. The mediation board can intervene at the request of either side.

Barring new injunction action in the courts, the 16 non-operating unions presumably would be free to strike if all settlement steps of the Railway Labor Act are exhausted without settlement.

Only three operating unions—the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Switchmen's Union of North America—are restrained from striking under a court injunction issued last July 2.

Other Unions, Carriers Negotiate

These three unions asked the Supreme Court Wednesday to declare the injunction invalid under the Norris-LaGuardia Act.

Meanwhile, the railroads are continuing direct wage negotiations with five operating unions representing 300,000 workers. The engineers, locomotive firemen and enginemen, switchmen, conductors and trainmen make up this group.

As the negotiations with the non-operating workers collapsed, Daniel P. Loomis, Chicago, chairman of the western conference committee and spokesman for the carriers, termed their demands "extravagant and unrealistic."

Americans 'Bomb' Berlin With Coal

BERLIN, Sept. 17. — (AP) — The Americans "bombed" Berlin with coal today.

Lt. Gen. Curtis Lemay, commander of the American Air Force in Europe, directed every plane in the airlift to carry coal and promised that 4,000 to 5,000 tons of the fuel would be dumped in the city in the 24 hours ending at noon tomorrow.

The concentration on delivery of coal was ordered as a demonstration on the anniversary of the United States Air Force.

The one-day haul will be distributed at once to all families in Western Berlin with two or more small children.

"Air ground crews and everyone else connected with the Berlin airlift will celebrate the day by making a maximum effort to carry a record number of tons," said LeMay.

In a prepared broadcast, which he will deliver tomorrow, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, commander-in-chief in Europe, declared "the spiritual significance of an airlift which provides the daily bread of more than two and a half million people demonstrates our will for peace is profound."

Forrestal Strikes Back At Communist Charges

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—Defense Secretary Forrestal tonigh struck back at Communists here and abroad who accused United States leaders of "warmongering." He labelled the charges irresponsibl and "dangerous distortions of the truth."

In a speech prepared for an Air Force Day dinner here, Forrestal did not identify those who made the charges. He said only that they have been made "by people obviously irresponsible, against the good faith and sincerity of our government or its political or military leaders."

Forrestal said that "after the surrender of Germany, if we had chosen to maintain our power or even part of it in Europe, we could have dominated the European scene."

Negro Clergyman Fined

BALTIMORE, Sept. 17 (AP) — Rev. A. L. Bailey was fined $25 by Chief Judge W. Conwell Smith, of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore, today after the negro clergyman was found guilty of soliciting marriages at the court house.

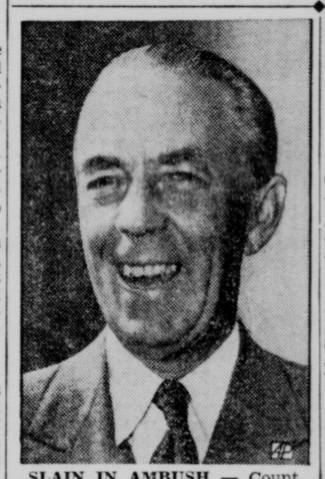
SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 17 (AP)—It was officially announced tonight that six Bulgarian citizens were given death sentences and two others life imprisonment on charges of spying for Turkey.

U. N. Palestine Mediator And Aide Killed By Jews, Security Council Is Told



SLAIN IN AMBUSH — Count Folke Bernadotte (above), United Nations mediator in Palestine, and his French assistant, Col. Andre Pierre Serot, were shot and killed yesterday in Jerusalem by four gunmen reported to be Jews.

Killers, Wearing Israeli Uniforms, Escape In Jeep

TEL AVIV, Israel, Sept. 17. (AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator in Palestine, was shot and killed today in Jerusalem.

Slain with the Swedish nobleman was his French assistant, Col. Andre Pierre Serot.

An official United Nations telegram to the Security Council declared the two men were "brutally assassinated by Jews of unknown identity in a cold-blooded attack."

The telegram said the killers used an Israeli army-type jeep and shot Bernadotte at pointblank range at a roadblock "well within the Jewish lines" in Jerusalem's Katamon District.

Bernadotte was driven to Hadassah Hospital on Mount Scopus where he died within a few minutes without regaining consciousness. Serot was killed instantly.

The telegram telling of the attack was signed by Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, American member of the United Nations secretariat. (United Nations officials in Paris and Lake Success said Bunche, a negro, had been assigned to replace Bernadotte.

Israel Seeks Assassins

(A Jerusalem dispatch quoted Dr. Bernard Joseph, Israeli military governor for the Jewish part of Jerusalem, as saying all possible measures have been taken to apprehend the assassins.)

A Jewish spokesman in Tel Aviv said Moshe Shertok, Israeli Foreign Minister, had sent telegrams to King Gustaf, of Sweden, Countess Bernadotte and United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie which said:

"Deeply shocked by outrageous murder of Count Bernadotte by criminal outlaws who are execrated by the entire people of Israel and the Jewish community of Jerusalem. On behalf of the government of Israel I beg to express our feelings of grief and profound sympathy. The government of Israel is adopting the sternest measures to bring the criminals to justice."

In the attack Frank Begley, chief security officer for the United Nations who was driving Bernadotte's car, suffered only powder burns. He raced to the hospital with the fatally-wounded Count.

Swedish Aides Escapes

Bunche's telegram said Gen. Aage Lundstroem, the mediator's Swedish aide, was seated beside Bernadotte and Serot in the rear of the car but "miraculously escaped injury." United States Navy Commander William R. Cox, a United Nations truce observer, was seated beside Begley in the front seat and also was uninjured.

The telegram gave this account of the attack:

Special Session Of U.N. Council Is Called For Today

Mediator's Death Shock To Officials

PARIS, Sept. 17 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council has been summoned into emergency session tomorrow on the slaying of Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations Palestine mediator.

In their shocked surprise, several United Nations officials said about the same thing when informed of the mediator's death. The comment generally was:

"Now all hell will break loose."

The report on Bernadotte's months of mediation in Palestine arrived at headquarters almost simultaneously with news of his death. The Swedish Count had undertaken the job last spring to exploit what he called a slight chance to settle the Holy Land problem.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie arranged to fly to Paris tomorrow from Norway. Acting Secretary-General Arkady A. Sobolev, of Russia, cabled instructions to Col. Aage Lundstroem, Bernadotte's chief of staff, to investigate the slaying and make a report to the United Nations as soon as possible.

Sobolev also cabled Dr. Ralph Bunche, principal secretary to the United Nations mission and right-hand man to Bernadotte, to assume full responsibility for the mediation group. The telegram said Bunche was in charge "until further notice."

Collapse Of Truce Feared

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — American officials were deeply concerned tonight over the possibility that the assassination of Count Bernadotte might wreck the uneasy truce between Jews and Arabs and touch off full-scale fighting in Palestine again.

Secretary of State Marshall issued a statement declaring that he was "convinced the world will demand that the work" in which Bernadotte was engaged, the work of trying to establish permanent peace in Palestine, should "be vigorously pursued."

"It is particularly tragic," Marshall said, "that he should have been shot down at a time when he had achieved such a great measure of success."

Air Force Probes Bombing Of GIs

ELGIN FIELD, Fla., Sept. 17. (AP)—Air Force officers tried today to determine how live bombs from high-flying B-29s missed their mark and plummeted into maneuvering troops, killing five and injuring 29.

The mishap occured yesterday while Army infantrymen were engaged in fire power rehearsal.

Seven bombers, flying at 10,000 feet, loosed 69 bombs weighing 500 pounds each. Some of the missiles exploded around and among the troops.

All of the dead and all but one of the injured were negroes. The other was a white captain.

Directive Issued

Flat Feet Again To Keep Registrants Out Of Draft

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—(AP)—Flat feet again will keep you out of the armed forces, President Truman said today in a 31-page draft directive issued on the eve of the final day of registration of American men 18 through 25.

Flat feet kept men out of World War I but did not keep their sons from serving in World War II.

The new directive, devoted mainly to technicalities of Selective Service procedure, lists 147 diseases or ailments that may "disqualify a registrant for service." They include:

Alcoholism, stuttering, deformity of an eyelid, certain warts on "weight-bearing areas," deep scars that show a tendency to break, loss of a thumb, and others.

The new directive ordered that a registrant subject to the draft could ask for a local medical checkup if he thought he had any of the deferring ailments. This would save him a trip to the Army physical checkup center.

Also clarified was the manner in which quotas would be determined for various sections. Instead of by population, the draft calls will be determined on the basis of the actual number of registrants classified in class 1-A or class 1-A-O who have been found acceptable for service.

Postponement of inductions up to four months may be granted, the new order says, in case of the death of a member of the registrant's family, extreme emergency involving a member of his family, his own illness or "other extreme emergency beyond the registrant's control."

The last of the 18-year-olds sign up Saturday, ending the 20-day registration period that began with 25-year-olds August 30.

Dewey Blasts Charges GOP Attempting To Kill Price Support Program

Republican Nominee Says Demos Trying To Deceive Farmers

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today accused the Truman administration of "an intentional fabrication designed to deceive the producers of food in our country."

The Republican presidential nominee made the charge in replying to what he called Democratic accusations that the GOP is trying to wreck the government's price support program.

The New York Governor also disclosed at a news conference that he will make four rear platform speeches from his train in President Truman's home state of Missouri.

Dewey will open his campaign with a major speech in Des Moines, Iowa, Monday night, then head for the West Coast. His Missouri appearances will be on October 2 on his way back to Albany.

Confers With Farm Leaders

Dewey called a news conference to issue a statement on Republican farm policy after he had conferred for more than three hours with two GOP farm leaders in Congress—Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt), and chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, and Rep. Clifford R. Hope (R-Kan), chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Dewey's statement said the "consumer and the farmer have an equal stake in sound government support of prices," and he added:

"A firm program of price supports at reasonably levels will benefit both producers and consumers."

He said the price support program enacted last July by the Republican controlled Congress "recognizes the necessity of such protection for both farmers and consumers." Then he said:

"I subscribe firmly to its principles, both for the present and the future."

Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, recently accused Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan of deliberately trying to keep prices high.

That brought a retort from Mr. Truman and Brannan that the Republicans were trying to kill the price support program.

"Created Out Of Thin Air"

Noting those charges, Dewey commented:

That the accusations were "created out of thin air, out of whole cloth and are an intentional fabrication designed to deceive the producers of food in our country."

Dewey also said "the whole administration is making it (the charge) and they are making it up."

The New Yorker, in his statement, said the farm bill enacted by Congress "is the best guarantee to American farmers of the Republican Party's interest in the problems involved in the all-important job of producing food and other agricultural products for 140,000,000 Americans, plus additional millions of people throughout the world."

He said that if America's farmers are to be expected to produce "the volume and quality of food necessary to meet these great obligations, they must be protected."

Wallace Sees Another "Artificial War Scare"

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace tonight lashed out at what he termed a "Washington war-preparations pork barrel."

The Progressive Party nominee for President of the United States asserted that both Republican and Democratic politicians were "promoting" a military program, and predicted another "artificial war scare" would interrupt United States-Russian negotiations.

His speech was prepared for a political rally in Edgerton Sports Arena sponsored by the Monroe County Wallace-for-President Committee.

MURDER IN SKY?-- A policeman inspects the wreckage of a small plane which crashed near International Airport, New York. An autopsy disclosed that Hannah Laufer (inset), 28, whose body was found in the wreckage along with that of Jesus Meneau Monleon, 31, experienced combat pilot who flew for the French and British during the war, had been shot and killed before the plane crashed. Two steel-jacketed bullets and fragments of a third were found in Miss Laufer's body. (Story at bottom of page)

Hyderabad Gives Up After 109-Hour War

Capitulates To India As Hereditary Nizam Orders Cease-Fire

NEW DELHI, Sept. 17 (AP) — The princely state of Hyderabad yielded to India today, and the hereditary Nizam ordered his people to adjust themselves to a "new mode" of democratic life.

The state's Moslem ruler, reportedly the richest man in the world, ordered a cease-fire effective at 5 p. m. (6:30 a. m. Eastern Standard Time), after 109 hours of fighting. Indian troops, pressing in from all sides, had approached to within less than 50 miles from his capital.

He was the last of 562 princes to give in to Hindu India or Moslem Pakistan, the two dominions created by the partitioning of old British India a year ago.

Government Resigns

The 62-year-old Nizam, Gen. Sir Mir Osam Ali Khan, accepted the resignation of his government and agreed to the demands put forward by New Delhi when Indian troops swept over the borders of the hemed-in state at 4 a. m. Monday.

Besides ordering the cease-fire, he outlawed the Razakars, fanatical bands of Moslem volunteers, and agreed to stationing of Indian troops in Hyderabad.

He also ordered his delegation to the United Nations in Paris to withdraw the case against India as "I want to begin a new chapter of friendliness with India." The Security Council had agreed only yesterday to take up the case on Monday.

(In Karachi, Pakistan, Hyderabad circles said the Razakar organization had been disbanded and its leader, Qasim Rizvi, was expected to reach Karachi soon).

Temporary Cabinet Formed

The Nizam advised New Delhi that he would form a new government tomorrow. Political observers here said the new regime would have to be approved by the Indian government.

It was considered possible that Prime Minister Nehru would demand that the Nizam personally come to New Delhi for negotiations. In the past the Nizam has refused to leave his state for the talks and instead sent various ministers.

The Nizam said he had formed a temporary cabinet including his eldest son, the Prince of Berar, who is commander in chief of the Hyderabad army. The present Nizam, the seventh in the line of succession, has reigned for 37 years. His dynasty was founded by Asaf Jah in 1712.

Injured Film Star May Become 'Sleeping Beauty'

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 17 (INS) — Rita Johnson, mysteriously injured film star may become a "sleeping beauty" and remain unconscious indefinitely.

This fear was expressed today by her physician, Dr. Lee Siegel. He said he was deeply concerned over the actress' continued comatose condition. She has been unconscious for 11 days.

The screen player suffered a severe head injury when, apparently, a heavy hair dryer fell on her. A brain operation during which a large blood clot was removed was performed eight days ago.

Lana Turner Expecting Stork Next Spring

800 Kids Lose School Because Of Wasp Nests

ATLANTA, Sept. 17 (AP)—Eight hundred school kids lost their building today because of wasps.

Assistant Fulton County Police Chief E. G. Fitzgerald said a maintenance man accidentally set afire the $250,000 E. Rivers Grammar School in Atlanta's fashionable north side while burning out wasp nests under the roof eaves.

The building was gutted. School had been dismissed an hour earlier.

Army Cargo To Be Loaded At Seattle

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17 (AP)—Movement of strikebound Army cargo by union stevedores from Seattle was assured tonight.

And the Army was reported trying to line up union help to handle Army cargoes in other major West Coast ports.

Civilian cargoes remained idle, however, in the 16th day of the crippling West Coast maritime strike.

These were the day's developments:

1. Col. William H. Donaldson, Jr., Seattle port commander, confirmed that CIO stevedoring gangs would begin loading military cargoes for the Far East under a "separate peace" contract with the stevedoring firm of Griffiths and Sprague.

2. The Army disclosed it was holding up $1,300,000 in payments due local stevedoring firms which announced they would have nothing to do with Harry Bridges' union until he signed a non-Communist affidavit.

3. The Army announced it had cancelled its contracts with four San Francisco stevedoring firms and would call for new bids tomorrow.

4. CIO warehousemen called on CIO President Philip Murray to recommend that the CIO repudiate endorsement of Harry S. Truman because of the Army's alleged "strike-breaking."

FBI Director Hoover Reported Seriously Ill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (INS)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover tonight was reported seriously ill with bronchial pneumonia.

Indict-Reds-Now Call Irks Clark

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — Attorney General Clark accused Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) tonight of hunting headlines because of his suggestion that Clark immediately seek indictments against known Communists "in and out of government."

The Cabinet officer issued a statement directed to Ferguson, telling the Senator bluntly:

"I would appreciate it if you would quit trying to claim credit for the work of the FBI and the Department of Justice and keep your political activity out of the field of serious prosecution of offenses under federal statutes."

Replies Through Press

Ferguson, who heads a Senate subcommittee investigating reports of subversive influences in the government, had forwarded his indict-Communists-now suggestion to Clark from Detroit.

The Attorney General said, however, that he read about it in the press before he received a copy of the communication. For that reason, he said, he was replying by the same means.

"I am surprised," Clark wrote, "that one who claims to be 'a lawyer of some experience' would release 'tips' to the press on most confidential criminal matters your informant told you were being investigated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation or ordered prosecuted by the Department of Justice.

"Your indefatigable desire for headlines in this regard will prove very detrimental to the prosecution of important cases. x x x

"You know that neither you nor the committee has uneathed anything on subversive matters that the FBI did not know and the Department of Justice had not already presented to the federal grand juries.

Indictments Expected Soon

"Again I ask you to furnish to the proper authorities the names of any Communists presently working in the executive branch of the government so that proper action may be taken."

Ferguson's suggestion coincided with reports that the Justice Department is on the point of seeking indictments against a number of former government employes believed to have Communist connections.

Alex H. Campbell, Assistant Attorney General, would neither confirm nor deny reports that grand juries are to be summoned soon in various cities to hear evidence in the alleged Communist cases.

Campbell did say, however, that "an investigation has been going on for months and is continuing."

Rail Unions Plan To Take Strike Vote

Talks Between Roads, 16 Groups Collapse

CHICAGO, Sept. 17—(AP)—Wage talks between the railroads and their 1,000,000 non-operating workers collapsed today and a union spokesman said, "We are taking immediate steps for a strike vote."

Under the dispute-settling provisions of the National Railway Labor Act, either side can ask the National (railway) Mediation Board to intervene.

However, G. E. Leighty, chairman of the labor conference committee, said: "We have not and will not ask for the services of the National Mediation Board. We are spreading a strike vote among the workers immediately."

Board May Be Called In

A spokesman for the employers said his group has not yet asked the mediation board to inject itself into the dispute. Asked if such a step is expected, he said he thinks that is the plan.

The Railroad Labor Act provides for both mediation and intervention by a presidential fact-finding board before a strike can legally be called. The mediation board can intervene at the request of either side.

Barring new injunction action in the courts, the 16 non-operating unions presumably would be free to strike if all settlement steps of the Railway Labor Act are exhausted without settlement.

Only three operating unions—the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Switchmen's Union of North America—are restrained from striking under a court injunction issued last July 2.

Other Unions, Carriers Negotiate

These three unions asked the Supreme Court Wednesday to declare the injunction invalid under the Norris-LaGuardia Act.

Meanwhile, the railroads are continuing direct wage negotiations with five operating unions representing 300,000 workers. The engineers, locomotive firemen and enginemen, switchmen, conductors and trainmen make up this group.

As the negotiations with the non-operating workers collapsed, Daniel P. Loomis, Chicago, chairman of the western conference committee and spokesman for the carriers, termed their demands "extravagant and unrealistic."

Americans 'Bomb' Berlin With Coal

BERLIN, Sept. 17. — (AP) — The Americans "bombed" Berlin with coal today.

Lt. Gen. Curtis Lemay, commander of the American Air Force in Europe, directed every plane in the airlift to carry coal and promised that 4,000 to 5,000 tons of the fuel would be dumped in the city in the 24 hours ending at noon tomorrow.

The concentration on delivery of coal was ordered as a demonstration on the anniversary of the United States Air Force.

The one-day haul will be distributed at once to all families in Western Berlin with two or more small children.

"Air ground crews and everyone else connected with the Berlin airlift will celebrate the day by making a maximum effort to carry a record number of tons," said LeMay.

In a prepared broadcast, which he will deliver tomorrow, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, commander-in-chief in Europe, declared "the spiritual significance of an airlift which provides the daily bread of more than two and a half million people demonstrates our will for peace is profound."

Forrestal Strikes Back At Communist Charges

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—Defense Secretary Forrestal tonigh struck back at Communists here and abroad who accused United States leaders of "warmongering." He labelled the charges irresponsibl and "dangerous distortions of the truth."

In a speech prepared for an Air Force Day dinner here, Forrestal did not identify those who made the charges. He said only that they have been made "by people obviously irresponsible, against the good faith and sincerity of our government or its political or military leaders."

Forrestal said that "after the surrender of Germany, if we had chosen to maintain our power or even part of it in Europe, we could have dominated the European scene."

U. N. Palestine Mediator And Aide Killed By Jews, Security Council Is Told

SLAIN IN AMBUSH — Count Folke Bernadotte (above), United Nations mediator in Palestine, and his French assistant, Col. Andre Pierre Serot, were shot and killed yesterday in Jerusalem by four gunmen reported to be Jews.

Killers, Wearing Israeli Uniforms, Escape In Jeep

TEL AVIV, Israel, Sept. 17. (AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator in Palestine, was shot and killed today in Jerusalem.

Slain with the Swedish nobleman was his French assistant, Col. Andre Pierre Serot.

An official United Nations telegram to the Security Council declared the two men were "brutally assassinated by Jews of unknown identity in a cold-blooded attack."

The telegram said the killers used an Israeli army-type jeep and shot Bernadotte at pointblank range at a roadblock "well within the Jewish lines" in Jerusalem's Katamon District.

Bernadotte was driven to Hadassah Hospital on Mount Scopus where he died within a few minutes without regaining consciousness. Serot was killed instantly.

The telegram telling of the attack was signed by Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, American member of the United Nations secretariat. (United Nations officials in Paris and Lake Success said Bunche, a negro, had been assigned to replace Bernadotte.

Israel Seeks Assassins

(A Jerusalem dispatch quoted Dr. Bernard Joseph, Israeli military governor for the Jewish part of Jerusalem, as saying all possible measures have been taken to apprehend the assassins.)

A Jewish spokesman in Tel Aviv said Moshe Shertok, Israeli Foreign Minister, had sent telegrams to King Gustaf, of Sweden, Countess Bernadotte and United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie which said:

"Deeply shocked by outrageous murder of Count Bernadotte by criminal outlaws who are execrated by the entire people of Israel and the Jewish community of Jerusalem. On behalf of the government of Israel I beg to express our feelings of grief and profound sympathy. The government of Israel is adopting the sternest measures to bring the criminals to justice."

In the attack Frank Begley, chief security officer for the United Nations who was driving Bernadotte's car, suffered only powder burns. He raced to the hospital with the fatally-wounded Count.

Swedish Aides Escapes

Bunche's telegram said Gen. Aage Lundstroem, the mediator's Swedish aide, was seated beside Bernadotte and Serot in the rear of the car but "miraculously escaped injury." United States Navy Commander William R. Cox, a United Nations truce observer, was seated beside Begley in the front seat and also was uninjured.

The telegram gave this account of the attack:

Special Session Of U.N. Council Is Called For Today

Mediator's Death Shock To Officials

PARIS, Sept. 17 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council has been summoned into emergency session tomorrow on the slaying of Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations Palestine mediator.

In their shocked surprise, several United Nations officials said about the same thing when informed of the mediator's death. The comment generally was:

"Now all hell will break loose."

The report on Bernadotte's months of mediation in Palestine arrived at headquarters almost simultaneously with news of his death. The Swedish Count had undertaken the job last spring to exploit what he called a slight chance to settle the Holy Land problem.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie arranged to fly to Paris tomorrow from Norway. Acting Secretary-General Arkady A. Sobolev, of Russia, cabled instructions to Col. Aage Lundstroem, Bernadotte's chief of staff, to investigate the slaying and make a report to the United Nations as soon as possible.

Sobolev also cabled Dr. Ralph Bunche, principal secretary to the United Nations mission and right-hand man to Bernadotte, to assume full responsibility for the mediation group. The telegram said Bunche was in charge "until further notice."

Collapse Of Truce Feared

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — American officials were deeply concerned tonight over the possibility that the assassination of Count Bernadotte might wreck the uneasy truce between Jews and Arabs and touch off full-scale fighting in Palestine again.

Secretary of State Marshall issued a statement declaring that he was "convinced the world will demand that the work" in which Bernadotte was engaged, the work of trying to establish permanent peace in Palestine, should "be vigorously pursued."

"It is particularly tragic," Marshall said, "that he should have been shot down at a time when he had achieved such a great measure of success."

Air Force Probes Bombing Of GIs

ELGIN FIELD, Fla., Sept. 17. (AP)—Air Force officers tried today to determine how live bombs from high-flying B-29s missed their mark and plummeted into maneuvering troops, killing five and injuring 29.

The mishap occured yesterday while Army infantrymen were engaged in fire power rehearsal.

Seven bombers, flying at 10,000 feet, loosed 69 bombs weighing 500 pounds each. Some of the missiles exploded around and among the troops.

All of the dead and all but one of the injured were negroes. The other was a white captain.

Bizarre Affair

Autopsy Reveals Woman Shot Before Plane Crash

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP) — Police pondered today the strange case of what appeared to be murder in the sky.

The bizarre affair came to light following the crash last night of a small plane carrying a man and a 28-year-old woman.

An autopsy disclosed three bullets wounds in the body of the woman, identified by authorities as Hannah Laufer.

Medical Examiner William Benenson said Miss Laufer had been shot and killed before the crash, in which the pilot, 31-year-old Jesus Meneau Monleon, perished. An unhappy love affair was indicated.

The small, rented plane plunged to earth in remote marshland near the New York International Airport after several efforts to land both at International and LaGuardia Fields.

In the wreckage of the plane, police found a letter which they said indicated Monleon had planned at one time to kill Miss Laufer and then take his own life. Later, however, it indicated he had abandoned the idea and planned only to do away with himself, police said.

The medical examiner's office said the note was sealed in an envelope addressed to the dead woman. It was written yesterday but had not been mailed.

"It indicated the writer was desperately in love and doubted that his love was returned," Assistant Medical Examiner Richard Grimes said.

Grimes released these excerpts from the note:

"For a while I thought that I should have to take you with me out of this world. I know now that is impossible. x x x It's quite late now. You are always in my heart and mind. Adieu, my dearest. x x I'm taking leave of you."

Directive Issued

Flat Feet Again To Keep Registrants Out Of Draft

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—(AP)—Flat feet again will keep you out of the armed forces, President Truman said today in a 31-page draft directive issued on the eve of the final day of registration of American men 18 through 25.

Flat feet kept men out of World War I but did not keep their sons from serving in World War II.

The new directive, devoted mainly to technicalities of Selective Service procedure, lists 147 diseases or ailments that may "disqualify a registrant for service." They include:

Alcoholism, stuttering, deformity of an eyelid, certain warts on "weight-bearing areas," deep scars that show a tendency to break, loss of a thumb, and others.

The new directive ordered that a registrant subject to the draft could ask for a local medical checkup if he thought he had any of the deferring ailments. This would save him a trip to the Army physical checkup center.

Also clarified was the manner in which quotas would be determined for various sections. Instead of by population, the draft calls will be determined on the basis of the actual number of registrants classified in class 1-A or class 1-A-O who have been found acceptable for service.

Postponement of inductions up to four months may be granted, the new order says, in case of the death of a member of the registrant's family, extreme emergency involving a member of his family, his own illness or "other extreme emergency beyond the registrant's control."

The last of the 18-year-olds sign up Saturday, ending the 20-day registration period that began with 25-year-olds August 30.

Revercomb Denies Rift With Dewey

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Sept. 17 (AP) —Sen. Revercomb (R-WVa) today called reports of a rift between himself and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey over the Displaced Persons Act "political propaganda."

Reports of the disagreement centering about amendments to the act suggested by Dewey, the Republican presidential nominee, came into sharp focus last week during a visit to New York by Gop Natior l Committeeman Walter Hallanan, of West Virginia.

Hallanan said he conferred with Dewey and asked him to come to West Virginia to help Revercomb in his race for re-election against former United States Sen. and Gov. M. M. Neely, of Fairmont.

The West Virginia committeeman said he believed Dewey was "disappointed" that Revercomb, as chairman of a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee, had turned down the New York Governor's plea for a revision of the Displaced Persons Act.

He added, however, that he believed any breach between Revercomb and Dewey was not so wide that it could not be healed, and Revercomb echoed that sentiment in a statement today.

"Count Bernadotte was brutally assassinated by Jewish assailants of unknown identity in a cold-blooded attack in the new city of Jerusalem.

"The Mediator, in Jerusalem on an official tour, was en route from Government House to the YMCA. In a convoy of three cars, two of which were flying the United Nations flag and one was flying the Red Cross flag.

"The party was accompanied by an official liaison officer of the Jewish forces. The Katamon quarter in the new city is well within Jewish lines.

"All three cars were stopped at a roadblock in which was parked an Israeli army-type jeep filled with men in Jewish army uniforms, all of whom got out but the driver.

Fire At Pointblank Range

"Two of these men, apparently recognizing the Mediator's car, approached it, stood at the window and fired at pointblank range. Count Bernadotte and Col. Andre P. Serot, sitting beside him in the rear, were both hit several times x x x."

Concluding his report, Bunche said:

"The situation in Jerusalem is tense. (I am) Consulting with the truce commission and senior observers concerning future arrangements affecting observer personnel who are in constant danger.

"Gen. Lundstroem, as personal representative of the Mediator and his chief of staff, is carrying on with the direction of truce supervision work in consultation with the truce commission and (Brig.) Gen. William E. Riley, United States Marines, senior United Nations observer.

"All members of the observer corps and the United Nations secretariat staff are deeply shocked at the sudden loss of their leader whose high integrity and tireless devotion to his mission and great personal courage were an inspiration to us all."

Arrangements were made to bring the bodies of Bernadotte and Serot to Haifa in a Red Cross ambulance tomorrow.

W. VA. STATE POLICE PROBE PORTER'S DEATH

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Sept. 17 (AP)—State Police Superintendent W. E. Burchett said tonight he had ordered a "thorough investigation" of the death of Charles B. Porter, former treasurer of the Washington Times-Herald.

Porter fell to his death from the sixth floor of a Clarksburg, W. Va., hotel Tuesday. He was 52. State authorities described the death officially as suicide.

Burchett said he had ordered the investigation because of the wide publicity given Porter's death and "not because of any new angles."

Ex-Convict Must Die For 14-Day Crime Orgy

MANSFIELD, O., Sept. 17 (AP) — A 24-year-old former convict, accused of killing six persons in a 14-day crime orgy, must die in the electric chair January 3.

Robert Murl Daniels, Columbus, received the death sentence from a three-judge Richland County Common Pleas Court today in shouting protest:

"If I actually remembered shooting the Niebels and seeing them fall, I'd deserve the chair," he yelled.

Daniels was charged with the cornfield slaying of John Niebel, 50-year-old superintendent of the Mansfield reformatory farm; his wife, Nolanda, 52, and daughter, Phyllis, 21.

The youth and a partner in crime, John Coulter West, collaborated in a spree of crime that left three others dead in its wake. West was shot to death by police.

avert, if at all possible, any complete breakdown of the truce system. There was some speculation here that it might be wiser to replace Bernadotte with a group of persons such as a committee than to name a single successor who would have the same vulnerability as Bernadotte had.

GONZALES AND DROBNY ADVANCE IN TOURNEY

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 17 (INS)—Dick Gonzales and Herb Flam, two West Coast adolescents still moist—so to say—under the chin, were all that remained today of American tennis when the national championship closed its quarter-final books.

Gonzales, aged 20, went into one semi-final bracket over the recumbent form of the old ex-champion, Frankie Parker, by 8-6, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3, while a 5,000 gallery openly gloated.

Flam, aged 19 and non-seeded, was already in the other bracket—the result of having beaten fifth-seeded Harry Likas yesterday.

So, for the first time within modern memory, a tottering citadel of American tennis will send a couple of literal boys on the proverbial man's errand tomorrow, as follows:

Flam versus Eric Sturgess, gifted virtuoso from the South African Veldt.

Drobny defeated the Wimbledon Bob Falkenburg, 8-6, 6-1 and 6-3.

that is not definite yet, but probably in the afternoon. The occasion will celebrate the anniversary of the day when in 1919 women were admitted to membership on the party's National Executive Committee.

In coming out for the Dewey-Warren ticket, Publisher Jones advised in his Houston paper that "we of the South will continue to have very little voice in the government unless and until we become doubtful states."

His editorial said Mr. Truman can not work well with Congress or even lead members of his own party. In contrast, he said, Gov. Dewey and his running mate, Gov. Earl Warren, of California, have a record of "successful experience in administering the affairs of their great states."

Negro Renews Campaign To Enter U. Of Maryland

BALTIMORE, Sept. 17 (AP)—A 21-year-old negro filed mandamus proceedings in Baltimore City Court today to require the University of Maryland to admit him to its school of pharmacy.

The negro, Martin B. Booth, Baltimore, contended in his suit that his first application to the school was filed last May 11, and that it was rejected and returned May 28 on the ground that the quota for the coming school year had been filled.

He submitted another application August 14 for admission to the school this semester or any succeeding semester, he said, but school officials also refused to pass on that application.

Revercomb Denies Rift With Dewey

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Sept. 17 (AP)—Sen. Revercomb (R-WVa) today called reports of a rift between himself and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey over the Displaced Persons Act "political propaganda."

Reports of the disagreement centering about amendments to the act suggested by Dewey, the Republican presidential nominee, came into sharp focus last week during a visit to New York by Gop Nation l Committeeman Walter Hallanan, of West Virginia.

Hallanan said he conferred with Dewey and asked him to come to West Virginia to help Revercomb in his race for re-election against former United States Sen. and Gov. M. M. Neely, of Fairmont.

The West Virginia committeeman said he believed Dewey was "disappointed" that Revercomb, as chairman of a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee, had turned down the New York Governor's plea for a revision of the Displaced Persons Act.

He added, however, that he believed any breach between Revercomb and Dewey was not so wide that it could not be healed, and Revercomb echoed that sentiment in a statement today.

"Count Bernadotte was brutally assassinated by Jewish assailants of unknown identity in a cold-blooded attack in the new city of Jerusalem.

"The Mediator, in Jerusalem on an official tour, was en route from Government House to the YMCA. In a convoy of three cars, two of which were flying the United Nations flag and one was flying the Red Cross flag.

"The party was accompanied by an official liaison officer of the Jewish forces. The Katamon quarter in the new city is well within Jewish lines.

"All three cars were stopped at a roadblock in which was parked an Israeli army-type jeep filled with men in Jewish army uniforms, all of whom got out but the driver.

Fire At Pointblank Range

"Two of these men, apparently recognizing the Mediator's car, approached it, stood at the window and fired at pointblank range. Count Bernadotte and Col. Andre P. Serot, sitting beside him in the rear, were both hit several times x x x."

Concluding his report, Bunche said:

"The situation in Jerusalem is tense. (I am) Consulting with the truce commission and senior observers concerning future arrangements affecting observer personnel who are in constant danger.

"Gen. Lundstroem, as personal representative of the Mediator and his chief of staff, is carrying on with the direction of truce supervision work in consultation with the truce commission and (Brig.) Gen. William E. Riley, United States Marines, senior United Nations observer.

"All members of the observer corps and the United Nations secretariat staff are deeply shocked at the sudden loss of their leader whose high integrity and tireless devotion to his mission and great personal courage were an inspiration to us all."

Arrangements were made to bring the bodies of Bernadotte and Serot to Haifa in a Red Cross ambulance tomorrow.

W. VA. STATE POLICE PROBE PORTER'S DEATH

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Sept. 17 (AP)—State Police Superintendent W. E. Burchett said tonight he had ordered a "thorough investigation" of the death of Charles B. Porter, former treasurer of the Washington Times-Herald.

Porter fell to his death from the sixth floor of a Clarksburg, W. Va., hotel Tuesday. He was 52. State authorities described the death officially as suicide.

Burchett said he had ordered the investigation because of the wide publicity given Porter's death and "not because of any new angles."

Ex-Convict Must Die For 14-Day Crime Orgy

MANSFIELD, O., Sept. 17 (AP) — A 24-year-old former convict, accused of killing six persons in a 14-day crime orgy, must die in the electric chair January 3.

Robert Murl Daniels, Columbus, received the death sentence from a three-judge Richland County Common Pleas Court today in shouting protest:

"If I actually remembered shooting the Niebels and seeing them fall, I'd deserve the chair," he yelled.

Daniels was charged with the cornfield slaying of John Niebel, 50-year-old superintendent of the Mansfield reformatory farm; his wife, Nolanda, 52, and daughter, Phyllis, 21.

The youth and a partner in crime, John Coulter West, collaborated in a spree of crime that left three others dead in its wake. West was shot to death by police.

avert, if at all possible, any complete breakdown of the truce system. There was some speculation here that it might be wiser to replace Bernadotte with a group of persons such as a committee than to name a single successor who would have the same vulnerability as Bernadotte had.

GONZALES AND DROBNY ADVANCE IN TOURNEY

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 17 (INS)—Dick Gonzales and Herb Flam, two West Coast adolescents still moist—so to say—under the chin, were all that remained today of American tennis when the national championship closed its quarter-final books.

Gonzales, aged 20, went into one semi-final bracket over the recumbent form of the old ex-champion, Frankie Parker, by 8-6, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3, while a 5,000 gallery openly gloated.

Flam, aged 19 and non-seeded, was already in the other bracket—the result of having beaten fifth-seeded Harry Likas yesterday.

So, for the first time within modern memory, a tottering citadel of American tennis will send a couple of literal boys on the proverbial man's errand tomorrow, as follows:

Flam versus Eric Sturgess, gifted virtuoso from the South African Veldt.

Truman Off

that is not definite yet, but probably in the afternoon. The occasion will celebrate the anniversary of the day when in 1919 women were admitted to membership on the party's National Executive Committee.

In coming out for the Dewey-Warren ticket, Publisher Jones advised in his Houston paper that "we of the South will continue to have very little voice in the government unless and until we become doubtful states."

His editorial said Mr. Truman can not work well with Congress or even lead members of his own party. In contrast, he said, Gov. Dewey and his running mate, Gov. Earl Warren, of California, have a record of "successful experience in administering the affairs of their great states."

Youth Playing With Matches Starts Fire

A fire started by a "small boy playing with matches" was extinguished by East Side Fire Company yesterday at 4:11 p. m. at the home of C. L. Mower, 225 Harrison Street.

Firemen said damage was slight and explained curtains caught fire in the bath room.

West Side Company answered a call to the home of A. F. Winford, 950 Braddock Road, where sealing wax exploded while being heated. The fire was out on arrival. No damage was reported.

Negro Renews Campaign To Enter U. Of Maryland

BALTIMORE, Sept. 17 (AP)—A 21-year-old negro filed mandamus proceedings in Baltimore City Court today to require the University of Maryland to admit him to its school of pharmacy.

The negro, Martin B. Booth, Baltimore, contended in his suit that his first application to the school was filed last May 11, and that it was rejected and returned May 28 on the ground that the quota for the coming school year had been filled.

He submitted another application August 14 for admission to the school this semester or any succeeding semester, he said, but school officials also refused to pass on that application.

This lad has "money in the bank" and is proud of his financial independence. He delivers newspapers and does other odd jobs to turn a few extra pennies.

He acquired two useful habits in his early childhood—work and thrift. Through these he is able to pay his own way, have his own spending money, and put something aside each week as savings.

Boys like him are not very apt to be found in trouble. They do not spend their spare time in idleness and among the wrong kind of associates, but divide it between recreation and useful work.

Three elements are essential in any logical solution of our juvenile delinquency problem—religious training, healthy recreation, and useful employment. Give a child these and he will steer a safe course.

The most important of these is religion—faith in God and humble obedience to the teachings of His Holy Word.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. This lad has "money in the bank" and is proud of his financial independence. He delivers newspapers and does other odd jobs to turn a few extra pennies.

He acquired two useful habits in his early childhood—work and thrift. Through these he is able to pay his own way, have his own spending money, and put something aside each week as savings.

Boys like him are not very apt to be found in trouble. They do not spend their spare time in idleness and among the wrong kind of associates, but divide it between recreation and useful work.

Three elements are essential in any logical solution of our juvenile delinquency problem—religious training, healthy recreation, and useful employment. Give a child these and he will steer a safe course.

The most important of these is religion—faith in God and humble obedience to the teachings of His Holy Word.

Howard County's Trial With The Voting Machine

It is not surprising to find the Maryland Legislative Council endorsing the use of voting machines and proposing that legislation be introduced at the next session of the General Assembly to make them mandatory throughout the state.

The proposal comes almost two years after the Allegany county delegation to the General Assembly passed two measures—one authorizing the purchase of voting machines by the County Commissioners, and an enabling act providing for the financing of them over a period of 20 years, if necessary. Had the provisions of that legislation been carried out Allegany countians would vote by machines in the coming election. But that right has been denied them by a move, inspired by Commissioner Wilkinson, which blocked the economic and progressive step through the securing of sufficient names—2,327—to a petition to require the issue being submitted to the voters by referendum on the ballot to be voted this November.

Almost on the eve of this, it is interesting to note that it was pointed out during the Legislative Council's meeting that Howard county, which installed voting machines last spring, has discovered that they have proved to be efficient and economic. That supports the experience of officials of every county where voting machines have replaced the paper ballot method of conducting elections.

Yet, the one member of the Allegany county delegation who voted against the legislation to provide machines for this county continues to oppose their installation. John T. Fey, who was recently named to the post of attorney to the board of county commissioners, replacing Lewis Wilson, resigned, and who apparently reflects the thinking of Commissioner Wilkinson, says he thinks voting machines are "unnecessary" in a county the size of Allegany. He added that he felt the expense of installing and maintaining the machines outweighs any benefits they might bring about.

Mr. Fey takes this position in the face of the experiences of Howard county which indicate that the voting machines have not only been successful and more economical, but that the county would save enough in five elections to cover the cost of the machines. That reflects the opinion shared by election officials and leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties, all of whom have advocated the introduction of voting machines in this county.

Still, Mr. Fey takes the view that machines are "unnecessary" in a county the size of Allegany when it is an acknowledged fact that the larger the county the more important it is that machines be resorted to. Allegany county is about twice the size of Howard county in square miles—425.16 to 252.88—and the population of Allegany county is more than five times that of Howard—86,973 to 17,175—according to the 1940 census.

How Mr. Fey, and in all probability, Mr. Wilkinson, will be able to reconcile their views with those facts is difficult to understand. But, whatever their views, it is considered a certainty that the voters of Allegany county are fully convinced of the valuable advantages voting machines hold and, taking Howard county's experience and conclusions as a guide, will approve the installation of them in Allegany county, Mr. Fey's and, perhaps Commissioner Wilkinson's, views to the contrary notwithstanding. It is disheartening to find that they are so far out of step with the thinking of more progressive citizens and members of the Legislative Council of Maryland.

President Truman Is Facing A Big Order

Harry Truman's "five hundred campaign talks," if equitably distributed across the map, will carry him nearly three times into the 188 districts which sent Democrats to the Eightieth Congress. In attacking the Taft-Hartley Act, he will be attacking (although he will not say so) most of those Democrats, who are on record as joining with the Republicans in voting for the act.

He will also be rendering such accounting as he may to 50,000,000 income taxpayers, whose burdens a Republican Congress, again assisted by Democratic legislators, has materially lightened, and this in the face of his own incredible vetoes.

Furthermore, the President is confronted by the situation inaugurated by Mr. Roosevelt at Teheran and Yalta and confirmed by himself at Potsdam, which W. C. Bullitt, Franklin D. Roosevelt's ambassador to Russia, has appraised in magazine articles entitled "How We Won the War and Lost the Peace."

Outstanding in that situation is the fact that, under Administration orders, the American armies attacked Germany through Normandy instead of the Balkans, marked time when victorious, let the slow-moving Russians occupy Berlin, and then failed to insist on a highway of their own between Berlin and the west.

The small American garrison, cooped up now in the German capital and forced to resort to the air in order to provision itself and the German people, is a bitter object lesson on Roosevelt-plus-Truman diplomacy, which must be present always in the minds of voters who listen to the President.

Maybe its a mercy that the campaigning Truman is not quite qualified to size up what he seems to be in for.

Paris–Fashions

It's said that nothing is sure except death and taxes. But a third inevitable might very well be added. Fashion changes.

The first rumblings of the autumn offensive against the American pocketbook are being heard from the direction of Paris. Hats, it seems, are going to be lopsided this year. Waistlines are up. Shoulders are either not padded at all, or fitted with square pads.

And skirts! Guess what? They're going back up again.

The designers either have run out of ways to change the long skirt or — unworthy thought — they have decided that all of the former short skirts now have been thrown away or consumed by moths, and thus will have to be replaced.

For a consideration an eastern concern will ship you a ready-made garage, to be put together with a few bolts. Nice to have if and when you get an automobile.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Pneumonia Due to Q Fever

Q fever is one of our newer visitations and, although the disease was thought originally to exist only in Australia, it is now known to be prevalent throughout the world. The malady made its debut in 1937 when a mild, influenza-like disorder broke out among slaughterhouse workers in Queensland. Careful studies showed that a new type of rickettsial microorganism was responsible. Apparently it was being transmitted to man through the bite of an infected tick.

Dr. Van Dellen

While the Australian physicians were doing their work, a group of American scientists isolated a previously undescribed rickettsia in Montana wood ticks. They did not know whether the germ was capable of producing disease in man but when they got together with their colleagues on the other side of the Pacific they found that the organism was the same as the Australian troublemaker.

The ailment was not heard of again until 1940, when an outbreak of 16 cases occurred among laboratory workers in our National Institute of Health. The victim had been working with these organisms, believing that some light might be shed on a perplexing type of pneumonia that was coming into prominence at that time. This was logical inasmuch as pneumonia was a prominent feature of Q fever but it was discovered ultimately that there was no relationship between the two and that a typical pneumonia, which was becoming more prevalent, was probably of virus origin.

In 1943 and 1945, Q fever broke out in the Mediterranean theater of war and it was soon learned that it was common in the civilian population in areas of Greece, Italy, and Corsica but the cause had never been recognized until our physicians came to those countries. The scene then shifted back to America where Q fever had been noted only among laboratory workers and, in isolated instances, in the Rocky mountain states. It was thought otherwise to be non-existent when suddenly in March of 1946 there occurred in Amarillo, Texas, among meat packers and stockyard workers, an explosive outbreak of an illness identified as Q fever. In August of the same year, a second epidemic took place in a Chicago packing plant and, during the spring and summer of 1947, more than 100 cases developed in the Los Angeles area.

The disease resembles influenza except that it is accompanied by pneumonia. The victim is stricken suddenly with headache, fever, a sense of chilliness, and generalized muscular aching. A slight cough is present but otherwise there are no other symptoms referable to the lungs. The majority do not sneeze nor are they bothered with sore throat or nasal obstruction. X-ray will disclose that pneumonia exists but the physician, when listening with a stethoscope, is unable to hear any abnormalities in the chest for the first few days. As a rule, the temperature continues in excess of 102 degrees F. for from 5 to 14 days. After that, it begins to fall and in due time, headache, weakness, and cough subside.

Recovery is usually complete and to date there have been only 3 fatalities among the several hundred cases reported throughout the world. The sulfonamides and wonder drugs are ineffective. Paraaminobenzoic acid and chloromycetin are beneficial in other rickettsial infections but their value in Q fever has not been established.

INHERITANCE OF DISEASE

C. B. writes: Are cancer and tuberculosis hereditary?

Reply

Heredity plays a role in cancer but it is questionable in tuberculosis. A person may inherit a weak constitution; thus he may be more susceptible to the causative germ. On the other hand, tuberculosis occurs in families because of its contagious nature. It is passed on by infected parents to the children through personal contact.

CLOSELY RELATED

M. J. M. writes: Is acute calcification the same as bursitis?

Reply

Not necessarily as calcification does not develop in everyone who has bursitis. On the other hand, the two conditions usually coexist in those who have had trouble in the shoulder for many years. The deposits of calcium represent part of the healing process.

ODD SHAPE

J. K. writes. Is a fish hook gall bladder dangerous?

Reply

No, provided it functions properly. This description refers to the shape of the organ which has been distorted by an adhesion.

NOT RECOMMENDED

Miss T. R. writes: Can freckles be removed by skin grafting?

Reply

Yes, but the procedure would not only be silly and risky but most impractical. Grafted skin is not like the original but it is a wonderful substitute if the epidermis is marred by scars and severe lesions.

Not "Catching"

K. S. writes: Are varicose ulcers contagious?

No, because the majority are mechanical in origin, due to a sluggish flow of blood thru a varicosed vein. In many instances these lesions begin after an injury, when infection is super-imposed on the original condition.

POWERFUL DRUG

Mrs. L. A. B. writes: Which is more effective in treating gonorrhea —sulfanilamide or penicillin?

Reply

Penicillin. Cure frequently results after one injection.

Woebegone Democrats Finally Come To Life; Democratic Drones Get "Work Or Else" Notice; General Vaughn Sends Negro To Europe On Cigarette Deal

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 — The woebegone, bedraggled Democratic National Committee finally came to life last week, after limping perilously near the verge of bankruptcy.

Some of the committee's operations have been so amateurish, they are unbelievable. In New York the committee has been paying for 50 rooms at the Biltmore Hotel—and keeping them empty. Desks and stenographers sit in the rooms—but that's all.

Meanwhile, young ladies have been given the job of raising money from top Democrats. Instead of having important leaders call on the big givers, young ladies who never met the big boys before have made the calls and come away almost empty-handed. A young lady was even sent to call on millionaire John J. Raskob, former Democratic Chairman and former head of General Motors.

Chairman Howard McGrath, a good Senator but apparently not an executive, has let his Committee drift—hopeless, rudderless, pathetic.

Truman Acquires Pathos

Last week, however, a money-raising campaign was launched at the White House. Mr. Truman invited about 30 top Democrats for tea, from California's Ed Pauley to New York's Morris Ernst. After the tea, he got up on a chair and made a little speech.

"I am appealing to you for help," he said, "help to carry my message to the American people. We just haven't got the money to buy radio time. In Detroit on Labor Day, we had to cut out one of the most important parts of my speech because we didn't have the money to stay on the air."

Mr. Truman looked pathetic and alone. He looked so appealing that those present forgot how many of them had opposed his renomination, how many had predicted that no money could be raised if he were nominated. They even forgot Truman's dog-in-the-manger attitude at Philadelphia.

However, a special finance committee met, including St. Paul's Robert Butler, Ambassador to Cuba; Cleveland's Joe Keenan, War Crimes Prosecutor in Japan; West Virginia's Louis Johnson, former Assistant Secretary of War; California's George Killion, president of the American President Lines; Ed Pauley, and Bill Pawley, Ambassador to Brazil.

Before they finished, and after some long-distance telephoning, they had pledged half a million dollars. One man alone pledged $100,000.

Louis Johnson was their appointed finance chairman—and promptly started housecleaning Democratic hangers-on who owed their jobs to once-important relatives.

$5 Instead of $5,000

To William Prim, son-in-law of North Carolina's late Senator Bailey, Johnson gave a tough bawling-out.

"You can cooperate with us and get some real work done," stormed the ex-Assistant War Secretary, "or you can get out."

Ambassador Pauley amazed his colleagues by telling how he had walked into Demcoratic Headquarters and told one of the lady money-raisers:

"I want to give five. Will you please write out a check for me?

"Naturally, I meant five grand," explained Pawley later. "So imagine my surprise when the young lady writes out a check for $5. No more, no less."

This caused Johnson to jump down the throat of another chair-warmer, Asa Caraway, son of Arkansas' ex-Senator Hattie Caraway.

"This kind of thing has got to stop," he told Caraway, who was considered responsible for the lady money-raisers. "Either it's going to stop—or you get out."

Johnson also proceeded to raise the Democratic money-raising goal from the $1,500,000 which had been fixed by McGrath to $2,500,000.

Black Eagle Captures Gen. Vaughan

One thing that discourages Democratic campaign-planners is that for every $10,000 they raise for Truman, his grandstanding military aide, Gen. Harry Vaughn, throws away $50,000 worth of political gain.

The genial, bumbling Vaughn has just pulled a boner that will take a lot of political repair work to patch up.

Vaughn has become a buddy of the famous Negro Aviator, "Colonel" Hubert Fauntleroy Julian, who describes himself as the "Black Eagle" and who, during the Ethiopian War, was Emperor Haile Selassie's one-man air corps.

Apparently trying to win the Negro vote Vaughn sent "Colonel" Julian to Europe to inspect Negro troops—partly at the Government's expense.

Arriving in Europe with an advance buildup by General Vaughn, Julian was given the VIP treatment (Very Important Persons). He toured the entire American zone of Germany as the guest of the Army, was given a military aide, and spent an hour with General Clay—one of the busiest men in the world.

But the Army brass hats were in for a rude shock. They found that "Colonel" Julian had interests other than the treatment of Negro troops. He was also using the prestige given him by the White House Military Aide to promote a cigarette deal.

In fact, Julian told the Army that he and his backers were willing to do Uncle Sam a great favor—namely, replace all the Army's over-age cigarettes (valued at $11,000,000) at the rate of one fresh carton for every two stale cartons.

The deal would have netted Julian and friends about $5,000,000. When General Clay heard about it, the Black Eagle was soon eagling his way back to the USA—shorn of his VIP treatment.

Note — Republican leaders say they get down on their knees every night and pray that Truman will not transfer Harry Vaughan before Election Day.

Chaos Rather Than Arms Is Chief Weapon Of The Russians

By MARK SULLIVAN

About the outcome of Berlin, as a detached incident, no person in Washington, however thoroughly informed, can have any judgment better than his personal guess. The answer lies in what Winston Churchill once alluded to as the mysterious and enigmatic minds of the Russian heads in Moscow. About the whole broad policy and attitude of Russia, of which Berlin is the presently critical example, there is a belief held by many which may be stated thus:

Russia will prefer not to initiate war with us, not to pull the trigger. And Russia will prefer to stop short of inciting us to pull the trigger, in Berlin or elsewhere. The broad and permanent purpose of the Russian heads is to destroy throughout the world the system of free enterprise and privately-owned industry which it invidiously calls capitalism, to the end that this may be supplanted by Communism. To the Russian heads is attributed an expectation that this can be accomplished without making war. To keep us anxious about war, to oblige us to keep prepared for war, can serve the Russian purpose as well as war itself. The immense expenditures we are thus obliged to make, together with other expenditures for help to European peoples, which we are obliged to keep up so long as peace is not assured—these expenditures, the Russian heads hope, may with other conditions bring about violent inflation and economic paralysis. This would lead to chaos, and it is chaos, rather than war, that the Russian heads rely on and prefer.

Chaos Is Russian Weapon

Chaos rather than arms is the chief Russian and Communist weapon. To continue the chaos that followed the war in Europe, and to create new chaos elsewhere, is their technique. Our realization of this was long delayed. For two years following the end of the war, we went on the assumption that Russia would cooperate with us toward bringing about the economic restoration of Europe as a means toward peace and a unified world. Realization that this was not so was marked by the statement of Secretary of State Marshall in the spring of 1947, following failure of attempt at agreement and cooperation with Russia: "I was forced to the conclusion . . . that the Soviet government either did not desire such a pact or was following a course calculated to delay any immediate prospect of its adoption."

The worldwide scope of the Russian drive for chaos was brought to attention this week by startling statements of British Foreign Secretary Bevin and Anthony Eden in the House of Commons, about the Communist drive in Southeast Asia, specifically Burma and Malaya. The fact is that the whole of Eastern Asia, excepting Japan and the Philippines, is under stress and turmoil caused by Communism. The British official statement made the point that the purpose of Communist chaos in Southeast Asia is not merely local: it is for the effect on the capitalist system everywhere in the world which can be accomplished by interruption of the export of raw materials which Southeast Asia produces.

Red Drive Being Checked

In one extremely important quarter of the world, Western Europe, the Russian drive for economic chaos is being checked, by our aid. After we realized that the Russian purpose in Western Europe was economic chaos, we set up the Marshall plan, later known as the European Recovery Program, to enable the Western European countries to achieve economic recovery. In the debates about this in Congress, it was agreed upon and emphasized that the economic recovery if it was to be a dependable check to Communism, must be a recovery of private industry. To this end the directors of our ERP operations have brought it about that most of the recovery we have facilitated is in the form of transactions between privately-owned business institutions in the European countries and privately-owned American institutions. We have discouraged purchases of American goods by European governments as governments and on the other hand have encouraged purchases by private business in Europe from private business in America. Our ERP expenditures in Europe are more and more being used for the fostering of privately-owned industry.

To the extent that this is successful, and that the peoples of Western Europe become economically healthy under it, the Russian drive toward economic chaos as a means of bringing Communism, is frustrated.

Congress Has Right To Ask About Political Affiliations

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—Some rather farfetched interpretations of constitutional rights are being expressed by witnesses before the House Committee on un-American Activities and some individuals will in the end undoubtedly be given citations for contempt and jail sentences.

It is amazing to find so many well-educated Americans declaring their opinion that it is a violation of the Constitution when a committee of Congress asks what a man's political beliefs happen to be.

Congress has been upheld again and again by the Supreme Court of the United States in its powers of inquiry, so it is accurate to say that committee powers of inquiry are as much a part of constitutional law as any other powers construed heretofore by the courts.

Necessary That Congress Knows

If Congress could not find out the political beliefs of individuals, it could not provide for the enforcement of a dozen laws that are on the statute books. Congress, by law, not only can ask about political affiliations in a committee hearing, but it can require individuals to state what expenditures they have made for any political cause. Many citizens do not know that the law of the land requires the filing by an individual with the clerk of the House of Representatives of a statement of any expenditures over $50 made by him in behalf of any candidates for federal office. It may be a bothersome law but it is constitutional, because the right of Congress to make rules and regulations to prevent fraudulent elections has been upheld by the Supreme Court.

Often Congress specifies by law that appointments to governmental agencies shall be so many from one political party and so many from another. If Congress had no constitutional power to inquire how a man voted in previous elections, it would have no means of ascertaining whether the appointees complied with the laws governing bipartisan appointments on commissions and boards.

The theory back of this constitutional power is that both Houses of Congress must be provided with the information needed for legislation. If Congress wishes to ban the Communist Party, it has a right to find out to what extent such a party has made inroads in American life. Congress could not bar from existence a political party as such but it could bar any politcial party or organization which had any connection with a foreign government. The argument of national security always transcends in time of emergency any considerations of normal political custom or practice.

Thus, while conscientious objectors during wartime can assert religious or political objections to war, they cannot be free from federal orders or powers during wartime. The government may or may not compel them to serve in war, but they certainly could not enjoy freedom from wartime regulation as to their movements or activities. Consideration for the objectors led to the granting of noncombatant duties but this was an administrative discretion rather than a constitutional compulsion.

It is as logical for such an individual to claim that the Constitution provides against "involuntary servitude" and that hence he cannot be compelled to join the armed forces against his will as it is for witnesses now to contend that they need not answer questions asked by congressional committees because this infringes on their constitutional prerogatives.

Not Crime To Be Communist

Even the fact that a man shall not be "compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself," as provided in the Bill of Rights, does not mean that a witness may refuse to answer any and all questions put to him by a congressional committee. It will have to be established first of all whether the testimony asked really could be used against him in a criminal case. Actually it is not a crime today to be a Communist, and there is no law as yet on the statute books which forbids membership in the Communist Party. There are plenty of Communists in America today. Hence for a witness to refuse to say whether or not he is a member of the Communist Party, on the ground that he would be testifying against himself, is to invite proof in a contempt proceedings as to the extent to which such a claim immunizes an individual from answering any and all questions.

Certainly there will be a court test of this in the not-far-distant future. If the claim were carried to extremes, a witness could use that excuse and refuse to give information necessary for Congress in its studies of legislative needs, through claiming vaguely that he would be incriminating himself. The courts will doubtless define the limitations of such an alibi.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Norman Thomas

For the sixth time, Norman Thomas is a candidate for the Presidency of the United States on the Socialist ticket and while he stands no chance of election, he has gained in stature and public approval. He has neither become a slave of the Kremlin nor has he gone over to capitalism as a reaction to association with Communism.

This year, it is anticipated that Norman Thomas will receive a fairly large protest vote. For there are some who just will not vote for Tom Dewey and the Republicans; who are distressed by Truman's lack of knowledge and ineptitude; and who abhor Henry Wallace's complete subservience to the Kremlin. They will vote for Thomas to express their dissatisfaction.

Norman Thomas is a socialist. He believes in the socialization of the means of production and distribution. He calls attention to his 1928 program, which Roosevelt adopted in 1932 in some of its immediate provision and which, in some respects, both the Republican and Democratic parties accepted in 1948. Thomas himself points to these provisions:

". . . the principle of collective bargaining must be recognized.

(We must have) "an adequate national program for flood control, flood relief, reforestation, irrigation and reclamation.

(We must have) "a system of health and accident insurance and old age pensions as well as unemployment insurance.

(We favor) "shortening the work day . . . securing to every worker a rest period of no less than two days in each week.

". . . the farmer is entitled to special consideration because of the importance of agriculture. . .because the farmer is unable to control the prices of what he buys and what he sells."

Too much can be made of this. The American way is progressive and has been for 300 years. American capitalism is premised on the theory that large quantities of purchasing power should increasingly be made available to all elements in the population so that they can purchase a constantly increasing quantity of the productivity of farm, mine, and factory. Also, American capitalism has supported the reduction of working hours, introducing labor-saving machinery, with the object of increasing leisure and the use of goods and services designed for leisure. .

The Eight Hour Day did not come into existence as either a Socialist or a New Deal reform nor did the high wage scale or the high standard of living grow out of the party platforms of any kind.

Nevertheless, is it true of Norman Thomas that he has generally been ahead of his times; that his services to his country have been unselfish and patriotic. At 63, he can point to a record of devotion which must be the envy of every American with a conscience.

His record during the war was extradorinarily sound. He opposed not only Nazism but Communism. He says:

"We bitterly opposed the slogan 'unconditional surrender' as purely negative. We attacked the Morgenthau Plan, the division of Germany into zones, and the failure of Mr. Roosevelt even to try for peace on a basis looking toward political and economic co - operation— exemplified, for instance, in a United States of Europe. Our insistence in 1944 and after was on the impossibility of peace by indiscriminate vengeance against Germany and appeasement of Stalin."

Today when many of those who toadied to the Kremlin and the American Communists and who brought upon us the shame of Yalta, point to an occasional and rare reflection on the abuses of the Communists, and justify their stupidities on the ground that because they were fighting Hitler they could not see Stalin, Norman Thomas can point to a daring and courageous pursuit of peace—a lasting peace—during the entire course of the war.

Now, he is opposing Henry Wallace and his party. He says:

"But in the manipulation of the movement, Communists have gained too much power. Bitter experience from World War I down through 1936 taught us Socialists the impossibility of any cooperation in good faith with a party controlled rigidly from Moscow, and which glorifies bad faith as part of its religion."

Thomas may be smiled at as a perennial candidate, but he has the courage to serve without hope of success, to labor without profit, to be American in its most idealistic terms.

Howard County's Trial With The Voting Machine

It is not surprising to find the Maryland Legislative Council endorsing the use of voting machines and proposing that legislation be introduced at the next session of the General Assembly to make them mandatory throughout the state.

The proposal comes almost two years after the Allegany county delegation to the General Assembly passed two measures—one authorizing the purchase of voting machines by the County Commissioners, and an enabling act providing for the financing of them over a period of 20 years, if necessary. Had the provisions of that legislation been carried out Allegany countians would vote by machines in the coming election. But that right has been denied them by a move, inspired by Commissioner Wilkinson, which blocked the economic and progressive step through the securing of sufficient names—2,327—to a petition to require the issue being submitted to the voters by referendum on the ballot to be voted this November.

Almost on the eve of this, it is interesting to note that it was pointed out during the Legislative Council's meeting that Howard county, which installed voting machines last spring, has discovered that they have proved to be efficient and economic. That supports the experience of officials of every county where voting machines have replaced the paper ballot method of conducting elections.

Yet, the one member of the Allegany county delegation who voted against the legislation to provide machines for this county continues to oppose their installation. John T. Fey, who was recently named to the post of attorney to the board of county commissioners, replacing Lewis Wilson, resigned, and who apparently reflects the thinking of Commissioner Wilkinson, says he thinks voting machines are "unnecessary" in a county the size of Allegany. He added that he felt the expense of installing and maintaining the machines outweighs any benefits they might bring about.

Mr. Fey takes this position in the face of the experiences of Howard county which indicate that the voting machines have not only been successful and more economical, but that the county would save enough in five elections to cover the cost of the machines. That reflects the opinion shared by election officials and leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties, all of whom have advocated the introduction of voting machines in this county.

Still, Mr. Fey takes the view that machines are "unnecessary" in a county the size of Allegany when it is an acknowledged fact that the larger the county the more important it is that machines be resorted to. Allegany county is about twice the size of Howard county in square miles—425.16 to 252.88—and the population of Allegany county is more than five times that of Howard—86,973 to 17,175—according to the 1940 census.

How Mr. Fey, and in all probability, Mr. Wilkinson, will be able to reconcile their views with those facts is difficult to understand. But, whatever their views, it is considered a certainty that the voters of Allegany county are fully convinced of the valuable advantages voting machines hold and, taking Howard county's experience and conclusions as a guide, will approve the installation of them in Allegany county, Mr. Fey's and, perhaps Commissioner Wilkinson's, views to the contrary notwithstanding. It is disheartening to find that they are so far out of step with the thinking of more progressive citizens and members of the Legislative Council of Maryland.

President Truman Is Facing A Big Order

Harry Truman's "five hundred campaign talks," if equitably distributed across the map, will carry him nearly three times into the 188 districts which sent Democrats to the Eightieth Congress. In attacking the Taft-Hartley Act, he will be attacking (although he will not say so) most of those Democrats, who are on record as joining with the Republicans in voting for the act.

He will also be rendering such accounting as he may to 50,000,000 income taxpayers, whose burdens a Republican Congress, again assisted by Democratic legislators, has materially lightened, and this in the face of his own incredible vetoes.

Furthermore, the President is confronted by the situation inaugurated by Mr. Roosevelt at Teheran and Yalta and confirmed by himself at Potsdam, which W. C. Bullitt, Franklin D. Roosevelt's ambassador to Russia, has appraised in magazine articles entitled "How We Won the War and Lost the Peace."

Outstanding in that situation is the fact that, under Administration orders, the American armies attacked Germany through Normandy instead of the Balkans, marked time when victorious, let the slow-moving Russians occupy Berlin, and then failed to insist on a highway of their own between Berlin and the west.

The small American garrison, cooped up now in the German capital and forced to resort to the air in order to provision itself and the German people, is a bitter object lesson on Roosevelt-plus-Truman diplomacy, which must be present always in the minds of voters who listen to the President.

Maybe its a mercy that the campaigning Truman is not quite qualified to size up what he seems to be in for.

Paris–Fashions

It's said that nothing is sure except death and taxes. But a third inevitable might very well be added. Fashion changes.

The first rumblings of the autumn offensive against the American pocketbook are being heard from the direction of Paris. Hats, it seems, are going to be lopsided this year. Waistlines are up. Shoulders are either not padded at all, or fitted with square pads.

And skirts! Guess what? They're going back up again.

The designers either have run out of ways to change the long skirt or—unworthy thought—they have decided that all of the former short skirts now have been thrown away or consumed by moths, and thus will have to be replaced.

For a consideration an eastern concern will ship you a ready-made garage, to be put together with a few bolts. Nice to have if and when you get an automobile.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Pneumonia Due to Q Fever

Q fever is one of our newer visitations and, although the disease was thought originally to exist only in Australia, it is now known to be prevalent throughout the world. The malady made its debut in 1937 when a mild, influenza-like disorder broke out among slaughterhouse workers in Queensland. Careful studies showed that a new type of rickettsial microorganism was responsible. Apparently it was being transmitted to man through the bite of an infected tick.

Dr. Van Dellen

While the Australian physicians were doing their work, a group of American scientists isolated a previously undescribed rickettsia in Montana wood ticks. They did not know whether the germ was capable of producing disease in man but when they got together with their colleagues on the other side of the Pacific they found that the organism was the same as the Australian troublemaker.

The ailment was not heard of again until 1940, when an outbreak of 16 cases occurred among laboratory workers in our National Institute of Health. The victim had been working with these organisms, believing that some light might be shed on a perplexing type of pneumonia that was coming into prominence at that time. This was logical inasmuch as pneumonia was a prominent feature of Q fever but it was discovered ultimately that there was no relationship between the two and that a typical pneumonia, which was becoming more prevalent, was probably of virus origin.

In 1943 and 1945, Q fever broke out in the Mediterranean theater of war and it was soon learned that it was common in the civilian population in areas of Greece, Italy, and Corsica but the cause had never been recognized until our physicians came to those countries. The scene then shifted back to America where Q fever had been noted only among laboratory workers and, in isolated instances, in the Rocky mountain states. It was thought otherwise to be non-existent when suddenly in March of 1946 there occurred in Amarillo, Texas, among meat packers and stockyard workers, an explosive outbreak of an illness identified as Q fever. In August of the same year, a second epidemic took place in a Chicago packing plant and, during the spring and summer of 1947, more than 100 cases developed in the Los Angeles area.

The disease resembles influenza except that it is accompanied by pneumonia. The victim is stricken suddenly with headache, fever, a sense of chilliness, and generalized muscular aching. A slight cough is present but otherwise there are no other symptoms referable to the lungs. The majority do not sneeze nor are they bothered with sore throat or nasal obstruction. X-ray will disclose that pneumonia exists but the physician, when listening with a stethoscope, is unable to hear any abnormalities in the chest for the first few days. As a rule, the temperature continues in excess of 102 degrees F. for from 5 to 14 days. After that, it begins to fall and in due time, headache, weakness, and cough subside.

Recovery is usually complete and to date there have been only 3 fatalities among the several hundred cases reported throughout the world. The sulfonamides and wonder drugs are ineffective. Para-aminobenzoic acid and chloromycetin are beneficial in other rickettsial infections but their value in Q fever has not been established.

INHERITANCE OF DISEASE

C. B. writes: Are cancer and tuberculosis hereditary?

Reply

Heredity plays a role in cancer but it is questionable in tuberculosis. A person may inherit a weak constitution; thus he may be more susceptible to the causative germ. On the other hand, tuberculosis occurs in families because of its contagious nature. It is passed on by infected parents to the children through personal contact.

CLOSELY RELATED

M. J. M. writes: Is acute calcification the same as bursitis?

Reply

Not necessarily as calcification does not develop in everyone who has bursitis. On the other hand, the two conditions usually coexist in those who have had trouble in the shoulder for many years. The deposits of calcium represent part of the healing process.

ODD SHAPE

J. K. writes. Is a fish hook gall bladder dangerous?

Reply

No, provided it functions properly. This description refers to the shape of the organ which has been distorted by an adhesion.

NOT RECOMMENDED

Miss T. R. writes: Can freckles be removed by skin grafting?

Reply

Yes, but the procedure would not only be silly and risky but most impractical. Grafted skin is not like the original but it is a wonderful substitute if the epidermis is marred by scars and severe lesions.

Not "Catching"

K. S. writes: Are varicose ulcers contagious?

No, because the majority are mechanical in origin, due to a sluggish flow of blood thru a varicosed vein. In many instances these lesions begin after an injury, when infection is super-imposed on the original condition.

POWERFUL DRUG

Mrs. L. A. B. writes: Which is more effective in treating gonorrhea—sulfanilamide or penicillin?

Penicillin. Cure frequently results after one injection.

Woebegone Democrats Finally Come To Life; Democratic Drones Get "Work Or Else" Notice; General Vaughn Sends Negro To Europe On Cigarette Deal

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 — The woebegone, bedraggled Democratic National Committee finally came to life last week, after limping perilously near the verge of bankruptcy.

Some of the committee's operations have been so amateurish, they are unbelievable. In New York the committee has been paying for 50 rooms at the Biltmore Hotel—and keeping them empty. Desks and stenographers sit in the rooms—but that's all.

Meanwhile, young ladies have been given the job of raising money from top Democrats. Instead of having important leaders call on the big givers, young ladies who never met the big boys before have made the calls and come away almost empty-handed. A young lady was even sent to call on millionaire John J. Raskob, former Democratic Chairman and former head of General Motors.

Chairman Howard McGrath, a good Senator but apparently not an executive, has let his Committee drift—hopeless, rudderless, pathetic.

Truman Acquires Pathos

Last week, however, a money-raising campaign was launched at the White House. Mr. Truman invited about 30 top Democrats for tea, from California's Ed Pauley to New York's Morris Ernst. After the tea, he got up on a chair and made a little speech.

"I am appealing to you for help," he said, "help to carry my message to the American people. We just haven't got the money to buy radio time. In Detroit on Labor Day, we had to cut out one of the most important parts of my speech because we didn't have the money to stay on the air."

Mr. Truman looked pathetic and alone. He looked so appealing that those present forgot how many of them had opposed his renomination, how many had predicted that no money could be raised if he were nominated. They even forgot Truman's dog-in-the-manger attitude at Philadelphia.

However, a special finance committee met, including St. Paul's Robert Butler, Ambassador to Cuba; Cleveland's Joe Keenan, War Crimes Prosecutor in Japan; West Virginia's Louis Johnson, former Assistant Secretary of War; California's George Killion, president of the American President Lines; Ed Pauley, and Bill Pawley, Ambassador to Brazil.

Before they finished, and after some long-distance telephoning, they had pledged half a million dollars. One man alone pledged $100,000.

Louis Johnson was their appointed finance chairman—and promptly started housecleaning Democratic hangers-on who owed their jobs to once-important relatives.

$5 Instead of $5,000

To William Prim, son-in-law of North Carolina's late Senator Bailey, Johnson gave a tough bawling-out.

"You can cooperate with us and get some real work done," stormed the ex-Assistant War Secretary, "or you can get out."

Ambassador Pauley amazed his colleagues by telling how he had walked into Demcoratic Headquarters and told one of the lady money-raisers:

"I want to give five. Will you please write out a check for me?

"Naturally, I meant five grand," explained Pawley later. "So imagine my surprise when the young lady writes out a check for $5. No more, no less."

This caused Johnson to jump down the throat of another chair-warmer, Asa Caraway, son of Arkansas' ex-Senator Hattie Caraway.

"This kind of thing has got to stop," he told Caraway, who was considered responsible for the lady money-raisers. "Either it's going to stop—or you get out."

Johnson also proceeded to raise the Democratic money-raising goal from the $1,500,000 which had been fixed by McGrath to $2,500,000.

Black Eagle Captures Gen. Vaughan

One thing that discourages Democratic campaign-planners is that for every $10,000 they raise for Truman, his grandstanding military aide, Gen. Harry Vaughn, throws away $50,000 worth of political gain.

The genial, bumbling Vaughn has just pulled a boner that will take a lot of political repair work to patch up.

Vaughn has become a buddy of the famous Negro Aviator, "Colonel" Hubert Fauntleroy Julian, who describes himself as the "Black Eagle" and who, during the Ethiopian War, was Emperor Haile Selassie's one-man air corps.

Apparently trying to win the Negro vote Vaughn sent "Colonel" Julian to Europe to inspect Negro troops—partly at the Government's expense.

Arriving in Europe with an advance buildup by General Vaughn, Julian was given the VIP treatment (Very Important Persons). He toured the entire American zone of Germany as the guest of the Army, was given a military aide, and spent an hour with General Clay—one of the busiest men in the world.

But the Army brass hats were in for a rude shock. They found that "Colonel" Julian had interests other than the treatment of Negro troops. He was also using the prestige given him by the White House Military Aide to promote a cigarette deal.

In fact, Julian told the Army that he and his backers were willing to do Uncle Sam a great favor—namely, replace all the Army's over-age cigarettes (valued at $11,000,000) at the rate of one fresh carton for every two stale cartons.

The deal would have netted Julian and friends about $5,000,000. When General Clay heard about it, the Black Eagle was soon eagling his way back to the USA—shorn of his VIP treatment.

Note — Republican leaders say they get down on their knees every night and pray that Truman will not transfer Harry Vaughan before Election Day.

Chaos Rather Than Arms Is Chief Weapon Of The Russians

By MARK SULLIVAN

About the outcome of Berlin, as a detached incident, no person in Washington, however thoroughly informed, can have any judgment better than his personal guess. The answer lies in what Winston Churchill once alluded to as the mysterious and enigmatic minds of the Russian heads in Moscow. About the whole broad policy and attitude of Russia, of which Berlin is the presently critical example, there is a belief held by many which may be stated thus:

Russia will prefer not to initiate war with us, not to pull the trigger. And Russia will prefer to stop short of inciting us to pull the trigger, in Berlin or elsewhere. The broad and permanent purpose of the Russian heads is to destroy throughout the world the system of free enterprise and privately-owned industry which it invidiously calls capitalism, to the end that this may be supplanted by Communism. To the Russian heads is attributed an expectation that this can be accomplished without making war. To keep us anxious about war, to oblige us to keep prepared for war, can serve the Russian purpose as well as war itself. The immense expenditures we are thus obliged to make, together with other expenditures for help to European peoples, which we are obliged to keep up so long as peace is not assured—these expenditures, the Russian heads hope, may with other conditions bring about violent inflation and economic paralysis. This would lead to chaos, and it is chaos, rather than war, that the Russian heads rely on and prefer.

Chaos Is Russian Weapon

Chaos rather than arms is the chief Russian and Communist weapon. To continue the chaos that followed the war in Europe, and to create new chaos elsewhere, is their technique. Our realization of this was long delayed. For two years following the end of the war, we went on the assumption that Russia would cooperate with us toward bringing about the economic restoration of Europe as a means toward peace and a unified world. Realization that this was not so was marked by the statement of Secretary of State Marshall in the spring of 1947, following failure of attempt at agreement and cooperation with Russia: "I was forced to the conclusion . . . that the Soviet government either did not desire such a pact or was following a course calculated to delay any immediate prospect of its adoption."

The worldwide scope of the Russian drive for chaos was brought to attention this week by startling statements of British Foreign Secretary Bevin and Anthony Eden in the House of Commons, about the Communist drive in Southeast Asia, specifically Burma and Malaya. The fact is that the whole of Eastern Asia, excepting Japan and the Philippines, is under stress and turmoil caused by Communism. The British official statement made the point that the purpose of Communist chaos in Southeast Asia is not merely local: it is for the effect on the capitalist system everywhere in the world which can be accomplished by interruption of the export of raw materials which Southeast Asia produces.

Red Drive Being Checked

In one extremely important quarter of the world, Western Europe, the Russian drive for economic chaos is being checked, by our aid. After we realized that the Russian purpose in Western Europe was economic chaos, we set up the Marshall plan, later known as the European Recovery Program, to enable the Western European countries to achieve economic recovery. In the debates about this in Congress, it was agreed upon and emphasized that the economic recovery if it was to be a dependable check to Communism, must be a recovery of private industry. To this end the directors of our ERP operations have brought it about that most of the recovery we have facilitated is in the form of transactions between privately-owned business institutions in the European countries and privately-owned American institutions. We have discouraged purchases of American goods by European governments as governments and on the other hand have encouraged purchases by private business in Europe from private business in America. Our ERP expenditures in Europe are more and more being used for the fostering of privately-owned industry.

To the extent that this is successful, and that the peoples of Western Europe become economically healthy under it, the Russian drive toward economic chaos as a means of bringing Communism, is frustrated.

Congress Has Right To Ask About Political Affiliations

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—Some rather farfetched interpretations of constitutional rights are being expressed by witnesses before the House Committee on un-American Activities and some individuals will in the end undoubtedly be given citations for contempt and jail sentences.

It is amazing to find so many well-educated Americans declaring their opinion that it is a violation of the Constitution when a committee of Congress asks what a man's political beliefs happen to be.

Congress has been upheld again and again by the Supreme Court of the United States in its powers of inquiry, so it is accurate to say that committee powers of inquiry are as much a part of constitutional law as any other powers construed heretofore by the courts.

Necessary That Congress Knows

If Congress could not find out the political beliefs of individuals, it could not provide for the enforcement of a dozen laws that are on the statute books. Congress, by law, not only can ask about political affiliations in a committee hearing, but it can require individuals to state what expenditures they have made for any political cause. Many citizens do not know that the law of the land requires the filing by an individual with the clerk of the House of Representatives of a statement of any expenditures over $50 made by him in behalf of any candidates for federal office. It may be a bothersome law but it is constitutional, because the right of Congress to make rules and regulations to prevent fraudulent elections has been upheld by the Supreme Court.

Often Congress specifies by law that appointments to governmental agencies shall be so many from one political party and so many from another. If Congress had no constitutional power to inquire how a man voted in previous elections, it would have no means of ascertaining whether the appointees complied with the laws governing bipartisan appointments on commissions and boards.

The theory back of this constitutional power is that both Houses of Congress must be provided with the information needed for legislation. If Congress wishes to ban the Communist Party, it has a right to find out to what extent such a party has made inroads in American life. Congress could not bar, from existence a political party as such but it could bar any politcal party or organization which had any connection with a foreign government. The argument of national security always transcends in time of emergency any considerations of normal political custom or practice.

Thus, while conscientious objectors during wartime can assert religious or political objections to war, they cannot be free from federal orders or powers during wartime. The government may or may not compel them to serve in war, but they certainly could not enjoy freedom from wartime regulation as to their movements or activities. Consideration for the objectors led to the granting of noncombatant duties but this was an administrative discretion rather than a constitutional compulsion.

It is as logical for such an individual to claim that the Constitution provides against "involuntary servitude" and that hence he cannot be compelled to join the armed forces against his will as it is for witnesses now to contend that they need not answer questions asked by congressional committees because this infringes on their constitutional prerogatives.

Not Crime To Be Communist

Even the fact that a man shall not be "compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself," as provided in the Bill of Rights, does not mean that a witness may refuse to answer any and all questions put to him by a congressional committee. It will have to be established first of all whether the testimony asked really could be used against him in a criminal case. Actually it is not a crime today to be a Communist, and there is no law as yet on the statute books which forbids membership in the Communist Party. There are plenty of Communists in America today. Hence for a witness to refuse to say whether or not he is a member of the Communist Party, on the ground that he would be testifying against himself, is to invite proof in a contempt proceedings as to the extent to which such a claim immunizes an individual from answering any and all questions.

Certainly there will be a court test of this in the not-far-distant future. If the claim were carried to extremes, a witness could use that excuse and refuse to give information necessary for Congress in its studies of legislative needs, through claiming vaguely that he would be incriminating himself. The courts will doubtless define the limitations of such an alibi.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Norman Thomas

For the sixth time, Norman Thomas is a candidate for the Presidency of the United States on the Socialist ticket and while he stands no chance of election, he has gained in stature and public approval. He has neither become a slave of the Kremlin nor has he gone over to capitalism as a reaction to association with Communism.

This year, it is anticipated that Norman Thomas will receive a fairly large protest vote. For there are some who just will not vote for Tom Dewey and the Republicans; who are distressed by Truman's lack of knowledge and ineptitude; and who abhor Henry Wallace's complete subservience to the Kremlin. They will vote for Thomas to express their dissatisfaction.

Norman Thomas is a socialist. He believes in the socialization of the means of production and distribution. He calls attention to his 1928 program, which Roosevelt adopted in 1932 in some of its immediate provision and which, in some respects, both the Republican and Democratic parties accepted in 1948. Thomas himself points to these provisions:

". . . the principle of collective bargaining must be recognized.

(We must have) "an adequate national program for flood control, flood relief, reforestation, irrigation and reclamation.

(We must have) "a system of health and accident insurance and old age pensions as well as unemployment insurance.

(We favor) "shortening the work day . . . securing to every worker a rest period of no less than two days in each week.

". . . the farmer is entitled to special consideration because of the importance of agriculture. . .because the farmer is unable to control the prices of what he buys and what he sells."

Too much can be made of this. The American way is progressive and has been for 300 years. American capitalism is premised on the theory that large quantities of purchasing power should increasingly be made available to all elements in the population so that they can purchase a constantly increasing quantity of the productivity of farm, mine, and factory. Also, American capitalism has supported the reduction of working hours, introducing labor-saving machinery, with the object of increasing leisure and the use of goods and services designed for leisure. .

The Eight Hour Day did not come into existence as either a Socialist or a New Deal reform nor did the high wage scale or the high standard of living grow out of the party platforms of any kind.

Nevertheless, is it true of Norman Thomas that he has generally been ahead of his times; that his services to his country have been unselfish and patriotic. At 63, he can point to a record of devotion which must be the envy of every American with a conscience.

His record during the war was extradorinarily sound. He opposed not only Nazism but Communism. He says:

"We bitterly opposed the slogan 'unconditional surrender' as purely negative. We attacked the Morgenthau Plan, the division of Germany into zones, and the failure of Mr. Roosevelt even to try for peace on a basis looking toward political and economic co - operation—exemplified, for instance, in a United States of Europe. Our insistence in 1946 and after was on the impossibility of peace by indiscriminate vengeance against Germany and appeasement of Stalin."

Today when many of those who toadied to the Kremlin and the American Communists and who brought upon us the shame of Yalta, point to an occasional and rare reflection on the abuses of the Communists, and justify their stupidities on the ground that because they were fighting Hitler they could not see Stalin, Norman Thomas can point to a daring and courageous pursuit of peace—a lasting peace—during the entire course of the war.

Now, he is opposing Henry Wallace and his party. He says:

"But in the manipulation of the movement, Communists have gained too much power. Bitter experience from World War I down through 1936 taught us Socialists the impossibility of any cooperation in good faith with a party controlled rigidly from Moscow, and which glorifies bad faith as part of its religion."

Thomas may be smiled at as a perennial candidate, but he has the courage to serve without hope of success, to labor without profit, to be American in its most idealistic terms.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

In 1916, a 45-year-old chiropodist named Henry Moon closed his office in Ithaca, N. Y., and set out for Broadway to become an actor.

Billy Rose

As might be expected, nobody was interested in a middle-aged coot without acting experience, and after hanging around for a couple of years, the stage-struck chiropodist got to be something of a standing joke around Shubert Alley. Whenever a producer couldn't think of the right actor for a part, he would clap his hands to his head in mock desperation and groan, "Great Scott! Maybe we'll have to use Henry Moon." This always got a big laugh, especially from the producer's employes.

One day, however, a shoestring producer who believed in type casting offered Henry a small part in a play, and for a hot minute it looked as if the chiropodist was finally going to get his name in a theater program. But a week before the play was due to open, the shoestringer assembled the performers and told them the show was off—his backer had reneged.

That night Henry Moon got drunk—not average drunk, but staggering-around, falling-down drunk. On his way home, he stumbled, bashed his head against a parked car and was carted away to a hospital for major repairs.

Times Square quickly forgot the would-be actor it had never paid any attention to. Then one evening three months later, one of the actors in the show which had never opened saw the chiropodist on 45th Street. He was carrying a cane in one hand and a tin cup in the other, and a neatly lettered sign, "I Am Blind," was suspended from his neck.

"Good Lord, man!" said the actor. "What happened?"

"I got a bit woofled when our show was called off," Henry explained, "and hit my head on something and damaged the optic nerve. When I got out of the hospital, I was broke and started borrowing. Well, you know how it is when you're on the mooch—one thing leads to another, and here I am. But I guess it doesn't matter because I was washed up anyway—everybody on Broadway has told me I don't know how to act."

During the next 10 years, the blind actor became as much of an institution on Broadway as the pigeons around Father Duffy's statue. He was probably the first of Times Square's singing beggars, and his favorite songs were those written by George M. Cohan. I was strolling the streets one night with the Yankee Doodle Kid, and when he heard the blind man sing "Her Name Was Mary," he was so touched that he stuffed a $100 bill in the beggar's cup.

On opening nights, the stage-struck mendicant was always out on the sidewalk between acts, and when more than one play opened the same evening, he would select the one at which he would beg as carefully as if he were a first-string critic. After a while, he got to be quite a favorite with the intermission sidewalk regulars, and a story went the rounds one season that George Jean Nathan had arrived at a premiere, and when he found that Henry was begging at a different playhouse, had given his tickets away and hustled over to the opening the blind man had picked.

Around the time that Lindbergh flew to Paris, Henry Moon again disappeared from Broadway, but this time his absence didn't go unnoticed. A reporter on the old World checked and found the beggar was dying of pneumonia in a furnished room on Ninth Avenue.

"We ought to get a doctor and see if there's anything we can do for the old boy," the reporter said to some of his cronies that evening at Dinty Moore's.

The newspapermen rounded up a doctor, but when they entered the old man's room, they knew it was no use—there was the smell of death around his bed. But the doctor went through the motions of an examination anyhow. Suddenly the reporters saw the medico stiffen and stare intently into the blind man's face. Then he reached into his bag, drew out a little flashlight and beamed it into one eye and then the other.

"I don't understand this," he said to the reporters. "There's nothing the matter with this man's eyes—his dilated reflexes are perfect."

Half an hour later, smiling peacefully, almost happily, the old beggar passed away.

"I think I understand it," said one of the reporters. "Henry Moon always wanted to be an actor, but Broadway never gave him a chance. Well, the joke's on show business. For ten years, he's been acting his fool head off, and putting it over on the wise guys who said he didn't have any talent. What we saw tonight was the last act of one of the slickest performances in the history of the theatre."

Give Parents Chance To Know Your Friends; They'll Like Them

By NANCY MOTTRAM

Nancy Mottram

(Q) "Dear Nancy: My parents never miss a chance to criticize my friends. They don't like some of them, but I'm warned about seeing too much of any one girl or boy all the time. I think my friends are swell fellows and girls, otherwise I wouldn't want to go around with them. How can I convince Mother and Dad of that? That's my biggest problem."

(A) Their reason could be that they want you to have lots of friends, not just one or two "best" ones. The same goes for any lad who occupies most of your time—they don't want you to be too fond of him at your age, nor do they want you to be hurt or left without dates when and if you and the steady man of the hour end it all. But they can't have any basic dislike of your buddies if they don't know them well. Try asking them to the house, and give your parents a chance to say more than hello, before you all dash out. You know them and like them. Once your parents become acquainted with them, they're sure to feel the same way.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I've been going steady for some time now, and I'm tired of it. I'd like to continue going out with the boy, but forget our "one and only" status. Yet, I know that he'll want to break up altogether if I tell him this and I don't want that. Also, I'm afraid he'll fall for someone else, and I know I could not forget him if we we stopped seeing each other. What can I do?"

(A) It's a well-worn saying, but you can't have your cake and eat it, too. You'll have to make up your mind which it is to be—steadily seeing him and no one else, or risking losing him. If you're bound and determined that you want to date other fellows, tell him that you want to see him and date him, but you'd rather not have it a steady thing any more. Explain your idea, and he may see your point. If it does break up your romance, make the best of it, and perhaps someone will come along who'll take his place. But if you don't like the thought of losing him for good, think twice before you bring the matter up.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I would like your advice concerning my daughter. She's 13, and she has asked me for permission to go to the movies with a boy 15. We've known the boy for several years, and we think he's a fine fellow. I don't know what to say and I hope you can help me."

(A) As long as you know and like the lad, a movie date, starting early and with a definite curfew according to your judgment, sounds perfectly all right. Why not plan to have a snack at your home for them after the show? Although late evening dates won't be in her schedule for three years or so, she'll enjoy the privilege and be grateful for your trust in her.

If you have a school, family or friend problem, Nancy can help you. Letters are answered in this column.

Jumbo Peanut Butter Invites Comparison with Any Other Brand in Money-Back "Twin Cracker" Test

Mr. Emil Frank, President, Frank Tea & Spice Co., Cincinnati, Ohio

You will find an unusual offer in this advertisement. This offer enables your family to decide—at our risk—which peanut butter they would like you to serve.

Why should Jumbo Peanut Butter risk a comparison like this when there are so many good brands of peanut butter on the market?

Why don't we ask you simply to try Jumbo Peanut Butter, alone? That's the usual way. But we go much further. We want you and your family to discover, by critical comparison with your present brand, that one peanut butter is actually best!

Could we dare make this offer if Jumbo weren't the best peanut butter money can buy?

HERE'S OUR OFFER

1. Serve two crackers on a plate to each member of your family—one spread with the peanut butter you usually buy, the other with Jumbo Peanut Butter. Serve the Jumbo crackers on the same side of each plate. Be sure to remember which side!

2. Unless every member of your family prefers Jumbo Peanut Butter, return the partly empty jar to your grocer and get back every cent you paid!

WHAT'S OUR SECRET?

Can peanut butters really be so different? Your first taste of Jumbo will answer that question—delightfully. Discover the difference when choice slow-roasted Virginia and Spanish peanuts are blended in the right proportions. Enjoy the delectable buttery texture . . . the extra richness made possible by Jumbo's special homogenizing process that retards separation but leaves the flavor unchanged.

A TEST WORTH MAKING

Once you've tasted Jumbo, see if you don't agree that the "Twin Cracker" test has introduced you to peanut butter at its best! Remember, you make this test at our risk. Ask your grocer for a jar of Jumbo Peanut Butter—today.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Billy Rose

As might be expected, nobody was interested in a middle-aged coot without acting experience, and after hanging around for a couple of years, the stage-struck chiropodist got to be something of a standing joke around Shubert Alley. Whenever a producer couldn't think of the right actor for a part, he would clap his hands to his head in mock desperation and groan, "Great Scott! Maybe we'll have to use Henry Moon." This always got a big laugh, especially from the producer's employes.

One day, however, a shoestring producer who believed in type casting offered Henry a small part in a play, and for a hot minute it looked as if the chiropodist was finally going to get his name in a theater program. But a week before the play was due to open, the shoestringer assembled the performers and told them the show was off—his backer had reneged.

That night Henry Moon got drunk—not average drunk, but staggering-around, falling-down drunk. On his way home, he stumbled, bashed his head against a parked car and was carted away to a hospital for major repairs.

Times Square quickly forgot the would-be actor it had never paid any attention to. Then one evening three months later, one of the actors in the show which had never opened saw the chiropodist on 45th Street. He was carrying a cane in one hand and a tin cup in the other, and a neatly lettered sign, "I Am Blind," was suspended from his neck.

"Good Lord, man!" said the actor. "What happened?"

"I got a bit woofled when our show was called off," Henry explained, "and hit my head on something and damaged the optic nerve. When I got out of the hospital, I was broke and started borrowing. Well, you know how it is when you're on the mooch—one thing leads to another, and here I am. But I guess it doesn't matter because I was washed up anyway—everybody on Broadway has told me I don't know how to act."

During the next 10 years, the blind actor became as much of an institution on Broadway as the pigeons around Father Duffy's statue. He was probably the first of Times Square's singing beggars, and his favorite songs were those written by George M. Cohan. I was strolling the streets one night with the Yankee Doodle Kid, and when he heard the blind man sing "Her Name Was Mary," he was so touched that he stuffed a $100 bill in the beggar's cup.

On opening nights, the stage-struck mendicant was always out on the sidewalk between acts, and when more than one play opened the same evening, he would select the one at which he would beg as carefully as if he were a first-string critic. After a while, he got to be quite a favorite with the intermission sidewalk regulars, and a story went the rounds one season that George Jean Nathan had arrived at a premiere, and when he found that Henry was begging at a different playhouse, had given his tickets away and hustled over to the opening the blind man had picked.

Around the time that Lindbergh flew to Paris, Henry Moon again disappeared from Broadway, but this time his absence didn't go unnoticed. A reporter on the old World checked and found the beggar was dying of pneumonia in a furnished room on Ninth Avenue.

Board Rejects County Liquor Sale Proposal

Commissioners Make No Comment On Report

A proposal to establish a wholesale liquor dispensary in Allegany County has been rejected after a study by the Allegany County Liquor Control Board.

A report of the study, made under a Senate Joint Resolution of the 1947 session of the Maryland Legislature, was submitted yesterday to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

The report was filed without comment by the commissioners, although the Liquor Board asked them to "go on record now as being in opposition to the passage of any wholesale Liquor Dispensary Act for Allegany County at the next session of the Maryland Legislature."

The report states there have been county dispensaries set up by law and operating for some time in seven counties, namely, Harford, Kent, Montgomery, Queen Anne's, Wicomico, Somerset and Worcester. The board has obtained copies of the audits of these counties and reports the following net profits for each during 1947.

Other Counties Report

Harford county (three stores), $169,527.08; Kent County (four stores), $67,805.55; Montgomery county (four stores) $359,997.33; Queen Anne's county (two stores), $34,852.02; Somerset county (two stores) $106,037.66; Wicomico county (one store) $178,515.17; Worcester county (four stores) $214,759.6?.

The report from the state comptroller from all licensed liquor dealers of Allegany county and from the seven dispensaries shows the per cent of the total consumption of distilled spirits in the State, for each county as follows:

Allegany county consumes 3.52 per cent, Kent, 66 percent; Harford, 1.24 per cent; Montgomery, 3.20 per cent; Queen Anne's, .29 per cent; Somerset, .76 per cent; Wicomico, 1.60 per cent; Worcester, 1.46 per cent.

No Accurate Basis

"If a common and accurate comparative basis for the computation existed, it would be logical to say that the profits from operation in Allegany County would be greater than is shown for any of the seven dispensary counties, but this is not the case.

"We are unable to use these figures in this way, inasmuch as the profits shown by the dispensary counties did not arise from a wholesale business, but they are the aggregate profits for the wholesale business, plus the profits from the retail stores dispensing liquor.

"None of these counties operated exclusively under a wholesale plan as was set up by the Act under discussion for Allegany County. Communicating with the various boards in control in the dispensary counties, we find that no separation of their figures with reference to wholesale and retail profits has ever been made or can now be made."

In view of this, the board said it did not offer the figures quoted above as being indicative of what profits could be expected here. "With no precedents, experiences or practices to guide it," the report said, "the county would be undertaking a business venture with the risks ordinarily associated therewith."

Sales Tax Helps

"House Bill No. 563 was introduced into the Legislature in 1947 in an attempt to find a new source of revenue for the county at a time when the public treasury was depleted and those in authority, charged with the responsibility of raising funds for contemplated increases in teachers' salaries, increased costs of labor and materials for construction and maintenance of roads, did not know where to look for the funds necessary.

"At that time there was no sales tax bringing in great sums of money and the prospects of obtaining money from that source did not look very bright. Without any disapproval of the principle that the production, sale and distribution of alcoholic beverages is properly a field of private enterprise, rather than a function of government, this wholesale dispensary bill was drawn and introduced in the hope that it would provide the needed funds. In short it was offered as the best thing to do in a bad situation.

"With the advent of the sales tax law and re-distribution of tax funds to the counties, Allegany county has been able to meet its serious financial obligations and no longer should we give countenance to putting government further into business."

Thief Gets 75 Cents In Storage Office

Police last night were searching for the party that stole 75 cents from the Cumberland Ice and Cold Storage Company, 353 Frederick Street, yesterday morning after using a "jimmy" bar to break into the building.

The money was taken from a coin box, police said, adding that several desk drawers were ransacked and a cold storage room was entered after a lock was forced.

Chief R. Emmett Flynn reported an attempt to enter the L. Bernstein Furniture Company store, 9-13 North Centre Street was made early yesterday morning. A rear window was broken but a heavy screen prevented entrance, police said.

Roberts Street Women Fined

Charged with disorderly conduct, Mrs. Rachel Nestor, 36 Roberts Street, was fined $10 yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court and Mrs. Ruby Nestor, 13 Roberts Street was fined $5. A similar charge against Mrs. Maude Williams, 36 Roberts Street, was dismissed.

Charges were preferred against the trio by Mrs. Arlie Williams, 45 Roberts Street, who claimed that Rachel Nestor struck her in the face and Mrs. Ruby Nestor "called me names."

The complainant admitted brandishing a gun "to frighten" her attackers, but said the weapon was not loaded.

Over $750,000 has been expended on the building and its equipment with the installation still incomplete. The center may be reached by turning right off Baltimore Avenue into Marion Street and then right again to Monroe Street.

Recruiting Offices Unaffected

Officers of both units emphasized that, although all Marine and Naval Reserve activities have been transferred to the hill, the recruiting offices for the regular services have been in no way affected. They will remain in the postoffice building.

Board Proposes Several Changes In Liquor Laws

Report Submitted To Commissioners

Several changes in state alcoholic beverage laws applicable to Allegany County were suggested in a report to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday by the Allegany County Liquor Control Board.

The Liquor Board would have the law changed so that the application for a license be signed by at least 10 voters or property holders and that the words "reputable citizens" be omitted from the act as it is impossible for the board to know if all persons who sign an application are reputable citizens.

In regard to corporations engaged in the liquor business, the board felt that "the most important change in the law pertains to issuing a liquor license to corporations," as provided in the present law.

The change suggested would not permit issuance of licenses to a partnership as such, nor to a corporation, but only to individuals who would assume all responsibility as individuals, and be subject to all the penalties, conditions and restrictions imposed upon licensees under the provisions of the present law.

Cite Irregularities

"As it now stands, any corporation, including business corporations, are eligible to obtain a license. It is perfectly obvious that those holding shares of stock in such corporations have the undisputed right to sell the same to any person. This being so, any one or more individuals could acquire the majority controlling interest of the capital stock of all corporations having liquor licenses in Allegany county and thus they would really control the corporation and license. This is obviously wrong and should be corrected."

In regard to clubs and benevolent societies and other similar organizations which are incorporated and wish to stay incorporated, the report said that inasmuch as the clubs and societies "do not have stock and are not ordinary business corporations but consist only of their members," the law should remain as it is to allow such clubs to obtain a license for the use of the corporation.

"Inasmuch, however, as there are now several corporations in Allegany county which have been awarded liquor licenses under the present law, it might be wise to confine the amendment pertaining to corporations to future applicants for liquor licenses."

Under the provision of the present law any corporation must be convicted of violations on two or more occasions in order that the license be revoked or suspended.

"We suggest that this be amended to provide that one conviction of any applicant for license for a corporation should be sufficent to require the liquor board to revoke or suspend the license. This is the law pertaining to an individual licensee x x x and we think it should apply in cases of corporations," the board states.

"We also suggest that the law be amended so as to make it a misdemeanor for any person to wrongfully represent his or her age to be over 21 years in order to obtain alcoholic beverages."

Want Law On Minors

The report cited a law now in operation in Washington County, which provides a maximum fine of $50 for such an offense, and said the law has proved successful.

The board also recommended that its members be paid $2,000 a year on a monthly basis, and suggested changes in the law which requires a notice to be placed in a conspicuous place on premises for which a license has been asked, at least 10 days before action on the application.

The report stated there was little use for this requirement, as applications are always published in the newspapers.

WAVE INTERVIEWS CANDIDATES HERE

Women interested in enlisting in the Waves were interviewed last night in the lobby of the Algonquin Hotel by Wave Lt. Cmdr. Margaret Combs.

Torpedoman Chief Edgar L. Schrader of the Navy Recruiting Office said that approximately 30 women have applied and indicated they were interested in joining the Navy which began enlisting women September 15.

The local office will give the mental examination and handle preliminary enlistment work, but further processing will be done in Washington, D. C.

The Bureau of Naval Personnel announced that it is planning to establish a policy for the rotation of duty for Regular Navy women between district and commands within the United States and selected overseas bases.

The bases have not been named but will be confined to areas where dependents of Naval personnel are permitted. During World War II, WAVES were assigned to permanent duty at only one overseas area, Hawaii; and since the end of the war have normally been stationed only within the United States.

Cmdr. Combs will remain in the city today to attend the Naval and Marine Reserve Training Center commissioning ceremonies.

Board Rejects County Liquor Sale Proposal

Commissioners Make No Comment On Report

A proposal to establish a wholesale liquor dispensary in Allegany County has been rejected after a study by the Allegany County Liquor Control Board.

A report of the study, made under a Senate Joint Resolution of the 1947 session of the Maryland Legislature, was submitted yesterday to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

The report was filed without comment by the commissioners, although the Liquor Board asked them to "go on record now as being in opposition to the passage of any wholesale Liquor Dispensary Act for Allegany County at the next session of the Maryland Legislature."

The report states there have been county dispensaries set up by law and operating for some time in seven counties, namely, Harford, Kent, Montgomery, Queen Anne's, Wicomico, Somerset and Worcester. The board has obtained copies of the audits of these counties and reports the following net profits for each during 1947.

Other Counties Report

Harford county (three stores), $169,527.08; Kent County (four stores), $67,805.55; Montgomery county (four stores) $359,997.33; Queen Anne's county (two stores), $34,852.02; Somerset county (two stores) $106,037.66; Wicomico county (one store) $178,515.17; Worcester county (four stores) $214,759.6[illegible].

The report from the state comptroller from all licensed liquor dealers of Allegany county and from the seven dispensaries shows the per cent of the total consumption of distilled spirits in the State, for each county as follows:

Allegany county consumes 3.52 per cent, Kent, 66 percent; Harford, 1.24 per cent; Montgomery, 3.20 per cent; Queen Anne's, .29 per cent; Somerset, .76 per cent; Wicomico, 1.60 per cent; Worcester, 1.46 per cent.

No Accurate Basis

"If a common and accurate comparative basis for the computation existed, it would be logical to say that the profits from operation in Allegany County would be greater than is shown for any of the seven dispensary counties, but this is not the case.

"We are unable to use these figures in this way, inasmuch as the profits shown by the dispensary counties did not arise from a wholesale business, but they are the aggregate profits for the wholesale business, plus the profits from the retail stores dispensing liquor.

"None of these counties operated exclusively under a wholesale plan as was set up by the Act under discussion for Allegany County. Communicating with the various boards in control in the dispensary counties, we find that no separation of their figures with reference to wholesale and retail profits has ever been made or can now be made."

In view of this, the board said it did not offer the figures quoted above as being indicative of what profits could be expected here. "With no precedents, experiences or practices to guide it," the report said, "the county would be undertaking a business venture with the risks ordinarily associated therewith."

Sales Tax Helps

"House Bill No. 563 was introduced into the Legislature in 1947 in an attempt to find a new source of revenue for the county at a time when the public treasury was depleted and those in authority, charged with the responsibility of raising funds for contemplated increases in teachers' salaries, increased costs of labor and materials for construction and maintenance of roads, did not know where to look for the funds necessary.

"At that time there was no sales tax bringing in great sums of money and the prospects of obtaining money from that source did not look very bright. Without any disapproval of the principle that the production, sale and distribution of alcoholic beverages is properly a field of private enterprise, rather than a function of government, this wholesale dispensary bill was drawn and introduced in the hope that it would provide the needed funds. In short it was offered as the best thing to do in a bad situation.

"With the advent of the sales tax law and re-distribution of tax funds to the counties, Allegany county has been able to meet its serious financial obligations and no longer should we give countenance to putting government further into business."

Thief Gets 75 Cents In Storage Office

Police last night were searching for the party that stole 75 cents from the Cumberland Ice and Cold Storage Company, 353 Frederick Street, yesterday morning after using a "jimmy" bar to break into the building.

The money was taken from a coin box, police said, adding that several desk drawers were ransacked and a cold storage room was entered after a lock was forced.

Chief R. Emmett Flynn reported an attempt to enter the L. Bernstein Furniture Company store, 9-13 North Centre Street was made early yesterday morning. A rear window was broken but a heavy screen prevented entrance, police said.

Roberts Street Women Fined

Charged with disorderly conduct, Mrs. Rachel Nestor, 36 Roberts Street, was fined $10 yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court and Mrs. Ruby Nestor, 13 Roberts Street was fined $5. A similar charge against Mrs. Maude Williams, 36 Roberts Street, was dismissed.

Charges were preferred against the trio by Mrs. Arlie Williams, 45 Roberts Street, who claimed that Rachel Nestor struck her in the face and Mrs. Ruby Nestor "called me names."

The complainant admitted brandishing a gun "to frighten" her attackers, but said the weapon was not loaded.

Naval And Marine

Lt. Col. Remsen J. Cole, public information officer of the Fifth Marine Corps Reserve District. Col. Cole, then Major Cole, was commandant of the local unit from its activation June 17, 1947 until he went on active duty September 20, 1947.

Many Officials Here

Also in Cumberland for the dedication, will be Capt. R. C. Hudson, USN, chief of staff and aide to the commandant; Captain Harold H. Connelley, director of training, Fifth Naval District, also Lt. Cmdr. Milton James Morgan, USN, aide to the admiral.

WAVE Lt. Cmdr. Margaret E. Combs, who was in Cumberland yesterday in connection with the recruiting of women for the Regular Navy, will be on the speakers stand to represent the women of the Navy for the Fifth Naval District.

Inspector-instructors from both Naval and Marine Reserve units from Lynchburg, Va., Charleston, W. Va., and Johnstown, Pa., are expected to be in attendance, First Lt. Edward H. Walker, local Marine Reserve instructor - inspector, said yesterday.

Over $750,000 has been expended on the building and its equipment with the installation still incomplete. The center may be reached by turning right off Baltimore Avenue into Marion Street and then right again to Monroe Street.

Recruiting Offices Unaffected

Officers of both units emphasized that, although all Marine and Naval Reserve activities have been transferred to the hill, the recruiting offices for the regular services have been in no way affected. They will remain in the postoffice building.

Tomorrow's program will be opened with an invocation by Chaplain Garner, USNR, Bedford, Pa. Following the dedication, a 24-man watch will be posted and the building will be open to the public.

Col. Brown will arrive in the city by automobile at about 10:30 a. m. today. He was a prisoner of the Japanese after being captured while commandant of the Marine garrison in Tientsin, China. For saving the life of the Governor-general of Hong Kong while in prison camp, Col. Brown was awarded the Legion of Merit.

Since his return to the United States he has been instrumental in the formation and policy setting of the Marine Corps Reserve and director of the Fifth Division headquarters.

Adm. Ainsworth, who will land at the Municipal Airport at about 2 p. m. today, graduated from the Naval Academy in 1910 and served aboard the cruiser Frederick and troop transports during World War I.

Shortly after the start of World War II he was placed in command of the Battleship Mississippi and saw Pacific service. He later was destroyer commander in the Pacific and also commanded Task Force 67 and participated in a number of campaigns.

Forty Piece Band

The Quantico Band is made up of about 40 members and is directed by Chief Warrant Officer August Olaguez.

Capt. Havard was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1926 and took part in the North Atlantic and Mediterranean phases of World War II.

Lt. Cmdr. Charles B. Gray, instructor-inspector for the Naval Reserve, emphasized yesterday that the ceremony is open to the public. Bleachers will be constructed to accomodate the crowd according to Cmdr. Geppert.

During the ceremony, the two Reserve units will form on either side of the flagpole in front of the Armory.

Citizens Meeting Planned

The Citizens Committee and other persons interested in the campaign for improving aid to the aged and needy of Allegany County will meet Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in City Hall auditorium.

Board Proposes Several Changes In Liquor Laws

Report Submitted To Commissioners

Several changes in state alcoholic beverage laws applicable to Allegany County were suggested in a report to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday by the Allegany County Liquor Control Board.

The Liquor Board would have the law changed so that the application for a license be signed by at least 10 voters or property holders and that the words "reputable citizens" be omitted from the act as it is impossible for the board to know if all persons who sign an application are reputable citizens.

In regard to corporations engaged in the liquor business, the board felt that "the most important change in the law pertains to issuing a liquor license to corporations," as provided in the present law.

The change suggested would not permit issuance of licenses to a partnership as such, nor to a corporation, but only to individuals who would assume all responsibility as individuals, and be subject to all the penalties, conditions and restrictions imposed upon licensees under the provisions of the present law.

Cite Irregularities

"As it now stands, any corporation, including business corporations, are eligible to obtain a license. It is perfectly obvious that those holding shares of stock in such corporations have the undisputed right to sell the same to any person. This being so, any one or more individuals could acquire the majority controlling interest of the capital stock of all corporations having liquor licenses in Allegany county and thus they would really control the corporation and license. This is obviously wrong and should be corrected."

In regard to clubs and benevolent societies and other similar organizations which are incorporated and wish to stay incorporated, the report said that inasmuch as the clubs and societies "do not have stock and are not ordinary business corporations but consist only of their members," the law should remain as it is to allow such clubs to obtain a license for the use of the corporation.

"Inasmuch, however, as there are now several corporations in Allegany county which have been awarded liquor licenses under the present law, it might be wise to confine the amendment pertaining to corporations to future applicants for liquor licenses."

Under the provision of the present law any corporation must be convicted of violations on two or more occasions in order that the license be revoked or suspended.

"We suggest that this be amended to provide that one conviction of any applicant for license for a corporation should be sufficent to require the liquor board to revoke or suspend the license. This is the law pertaining to an individual licensee x x x and we think it should apply in cases of corporations," the board states.

"We also suggest that the law be amended so as to make it a misdemeanor for any person to wrongfully represent his or her age to be over 21 years in order to obtain alcoholic beverages."

Want Law On Minors

The report cited a law now in operation in Washington County, which provides a maximum fine of $50 for such an offense, and said the law has proved successful.

The board also recommended that its members be paid $2,000 a year on a monthly basis, and suggested changes in the law which requires a notice to be placed in a conspicuous place on premises for which a license has been asked, at least 10 days before action on the application.

The report stated there was little use for this requirement, as applications are always published in the newspapers.

WAVE INTERVIEWS CANDIDATES HERE

Women interested in enlisting in the Waves were interviewed last night in the lobby of the Algonquin Hotel by Wave Lt. Cmdr. Margaret Combs.

Torpedoman Chief Edgar L. Schrader of the Navy Recruiting Office said that approximately 30 women have applied and indicated they were interested in joining the Navy which began enlisting women September 15.

The local office will give the mental examination and handle preliminary enlistment work, but further processing will be done in Washington, D. C.

The Bureau of Naval Personnel announced that it is planning to establish a policy for the rotation of duty for Regular Navy women between district and commands within the United States and selected overseas bases.

The bases have not been named but will be confined to areas where dependents of Naval personnel are permitted. During World War II, WAVES were assigned to permanent duty at only one overseas area, Hawaii; and since the end of the war have normally been stationed only within the United States.

Cmdr. Combs will remain in the city today to attend the Naval and Marine Reserve Training Center commissioning ceremonies.

Gallup Poll:

Presidential Survey Places New Jersey In Dewey Column

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 16—New Jersey, which went Democratic by slim margins in the last two presidential elections, is today over in the Republican column.

Interviewing throughout the state shows the following division of sentiment at the present time:

"If the presidential election were being held TODAY how would you vote—for Truman, for Dewey or for Wallace?"

New Jersey
(16 electoral votes)

Dewey	50%
Truman	38
Wallace	3
Undecided	9

Today's report is the sixth in a series showing the standings of the candidates in the individual states. So far the poll results show Governor Thomas E. Dewey leading in four states—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and California—while President Truman leads in one—his home state of Missouri.

In the sixth state thus far reported—South Carolina—Governor J. Strom Thurmond, candidate of the Southern States' Rights Party, is well in the lead. The score:

Dewey Leading

New York—Dewey 42 per cent, Truman 32 per cent, Wallace 14 per cent, Undecided 12 per cent.

Pennsylvania—Dewey 53 per cent, Truman 37 per cent, Wallace 3 per cent, Undecided 7 per cent.

California—Dewey 49 per cent, Truman 35 per cent, Wallace 7 per cent, Undecided 9 per cent.

Truman Leading

Missouri—Truman 53 per cent, Dewey 36 per cent, Undecided 11 per cent. (At the time of this poll Mr. Wallace had not qualified on the Missouri election ballot. Later reports are that the Wallace ticket will be on the Missouri ballot. Governor Thurmond, however, will not be on the Missouri ballot.)

Thurmond Leading

South Carolina—Thurmond 52 per cent, Truman 26 per cent, Dewey 10 per cent, Wallace less than 1 per cent, Undecided 12 per cent.

In spite of the heavy Democratic majorities customarily polled up in Hudson County, home bailiwick of Boss Frank Hague, New Jersey's presidential voting has been very close in the last two elections.

In 1944 the Roosevelt ticket carried the state by the narrow margin of 50.7 per cent of the major party vote, while the Republicans polled 49.3 per cent. In 1940 the race was also close—51.8 per cent for the Democrats and 48.2 per cent for the GOP. By contrast, today's poll figure with the undecided vote eliminated would be 55 per cent for Dewey, 41 per cent for Truman and 4 per cent for Wallace.

California
(25 electoral votes)

Dewey	49%	54%
Truman	35	38
Wallace	7	8
Undecided	9

Today's report is the fifth in a series giving the standings of the presidential candidates in the individual states. Of the states reported so far, Governor Dewey leads in three, President Truman in one and Governor J. Strom Thurmond, candidate of the Southern States' Rights Party, in one. The score is shown below in terms of per cent of voters expressing a definite choice of candidate.

New York

Dewey	47%
Truman	37
Wallace	16

Pennsylvania

Dewey	57%
Truman	40
Wallace	3

Missouri

Truman	59%
Dewey	41

(Wallace will not be on the Missouri election ballot.)

South Carolina

Thurmond	59%
Truman	29
Dewey	11

One interestnig aspect of today's figures on California is that the Dewey-Warren ticket runs stronger in Governor Warren's home state than in Governor Dewey's home state of New York.

That is partly because of the Wallace vote, which is much higher in New York than in California. The Wallace candidacy splits the Democratic vote in New York state to such an extent as to give Governor Dewey the lead, but actually the Governor runs no better there today than he did in the presidential election four years ago when he was matched against the late Presdient Roosevelt. Governor Dewey received 47.5 per cent in New York state in that election.

In Calofirnia, however, the Dewey ticket this year runs way ahead of 1944—a fact which the friends of Governor Warren will no doubt attribute to his presence on the ticket as Governor Dewey's running mate.

In 1944 the Republican vote for president in California was 43 per cent, whereas Roosevelt got 57 per cent. In 1940 the Democrats carried the state by 58 per cent, and in 1936 by 68 per cent.

Amvets Capture Second Straight From Lacy's, 4-3

Gerdeman Hits Triple To Pave Way To Victory

Scores Winning Run On Wild Pitch In 3rd

Norman Gerdeman's triple with two aboard and Ed Decker's wild pitch produced three runs in the third inning and gave the Cumberland Amvets their second straight victory over Lacy's Delicatets in the City Softball League championship series yesterday at Community Park. The score was 4-3.

Allan Sheetz started the winning rally by drawing a pass. Doyle laid down a bunt and beat it out. After Summers sacrificed, Gerdeman belted a three-bagger and scored what proved to be the deciding run when Decker uncorked a wild pitch.

Gerdeman obtained two of the three hits yielded by Decker, batted in three of the Amvets' runs, scored the winning marker and started a snappy double play to stand out as the star of the game. He drove in the first run in the opening frame with a timely double after George walked and moved to second on Summers' sacrifice.

Sheetz gave up eight hits, four of which were shared by Crabtree and Yeider, and registered his 30th victory of the season. It marked the 7th meeting of Sheetz and Decker this season and the latter now holds a 4-3 edge in wins.

Lacy's scored their first run in the third when Wilson forced Yaider after the latter had walked, moved to second on Tommy Geatz's wild throw on an attempted double play and came home on Decker's single. In the 5th Yaider singled, went to second when Decker beat out a bunt and scored on "Babe" Crabtree's base wallop. Yaider's single, Decker's third hit and Crabtree's safety produced the Delicatets' final tally in the top of the 7th.

Decker led Lacy's attack with three singles while Gerdeman paced the winners with a triple and double.

The third game of the best-of-five series will likely be played on Monday at Community Park. Box:

Interstate Title Series To Start Here On Sunday

Moorefield Will Play Legion At Local Park

It's Moorefield versus Cumberland American Legion when the Interstate Baseball League's best-of-three-games championship series gets under way Sunday at 3 p. m. at Community Park.

The final set-up was the same last year and Moorefield made short work of the locals by taking both games, 8-0 and 8-7.

Moorefield reached the finals by knocking off the Romney Rockets in two straight games while Cumberland took a pair from the Hyndman V.F.W.

The finalists met three times during the regular league season and all games were very close. Manager Bill Bracey's club won the opener, 10-8, with Norman Geatz decisioning Dwight Kessell. "Ossie" Raines pitched Moorefield to a 6-5 win over Pat Creegan in the second contest. Creegan, however, came back to win over Raines in the "rubber" game, 9-8.

Geatz, Creegan or Jack Kauffman will be on the firing line for the home team in today's game while Manager Clarence "Hink" Fisher will rely on Raines or Marshall Yeider. Kessell has been bothered with a sore arm and may not get in the series.

The second game of the series is set for Moorefield a week from tomorrow.

Mountaineers To Wear Stockings This Season

For the first time in many seasons, West Virginia University's Mountaineers will wear stockings when they play their opening game with Waynesburg College at Morgantown today.

LESNEVICH SUFFERS INJURY, WITHDRAWS FROM WALCOTT BOUT

Silver Scout Scores 6th Straight Win At Fairgo

Bolton Leads Drivers, Harness Meet Closes

Silver Scout, eight-year-old bay gelding, owned by Mrs. W. H. Thomas, of Ferndale, Pa., extended his winning streak to twelve straight heats by making a clean sweep in the free-for-all pace yesterday at the Fair Grounds as the Cumberland Fair Association's three-day harness race meeting drew to a close.

The Maryland-owned pacer duplicated his performance of Wednesday when he won all three heats and therby boosted his earnings here to $360 for six winning starts. Prior to coming to Fairgo, Silver Scout had won three straight mile races at Ligonier, Pa., and a like number of heats at Ebensburg, Pa. The Thomas gelding has won 13 out of 15 starts this year.

Bolton Leads Drivers

Silver Scout is owned by the widow of William H. Thomas, of Ferndale, Pa., whose efforts were instrumental in reviving harness racing in Maryland. Mr. Thomas died the night the State Legislature passed the racing bill after he had returned to his home from Annapolis.

Walter T. Bolton, of Newark, Del., drove Silver Scout in his six winning starts at Fairgo. Bolton incidentally, led the drivers at the local session by piloting eleven winners in three days.

Silver Scout raced at two tracks this year where pari-mutuel betting is legal and paid big prices both times he won. He returned $42 at Laurel, Md., and $48 for $2 at Harrington, Del.

Jane Czar, Hollenden Win

Jane Czar, owned by George W. Gingell, Emmitsburg, Md., and driven by Bolton, swept all three heats in yesterday's opening event, the 18 trot. Hollenden, owned and driven by Clay Hammer, Everett, Pa., won three straight heats in the 26 trot, final event on the card.

A total of $1,155 was distributed among the horsemen yesterday, boosting the total to $3,475 for the three days.

Bi-State's Top Clubs On Ropes In The Playoffs

Losses Today Will Put Amvets, Frostburg Out

The teams that finished one-two at the close of the regular season in the Bi-State Baseball League are on the ropes and they must win today or be eliminated from the playoffs.

Frostburg's V.F.W. tossers, the No. 1 team, trails in its series with Westvaco, having won one and lost two, and must play at Westernport today in the 4th game of the series. A victory would put the Papermakers in the finals while Frostburg could force the series to the five-game limit by taking today's contest.

The Vets won the series opener, 8-7, then lost the second and third games to Westvaco, 6-4 and 19-4.

Norman Gerdeman's Amvets are in the same position as Frostburg. They won the first game from the Queen City, 9-4, then were floored in the next two games by scores of 10-3 and 6-5. If Queen City whips the league's defending champions at Stitcher Field this afternoon the Brewers will go to the finals. A victory for the Amvets, however, would necessitate the staging of a fifth game to determine the winner.

The championship series will be best-of-seven games.

Diaz, DiUbaldo and C. Warnick will officiate at Westernport today while at Stitcher Field the arbiters will be Johnson, Atkinson and G. Warnick.

Flaherty Released As Yankees' Coach

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Ray Flaherty was fired today as head coach of the New York Yankees of the All-America Football Conference.

His resignation, at the request of club president Dan Topping, came less than 24 hours after the Yankees, winners of the Eastern Division in both 1946 and 1947, had lost their third game of the young season.

Topping said that Norman (Red) Strader, Yankee backfield coach, would direct the team for the remainder of the season. Strader, one-time coach at St. Mary's in California, was in Chicago for the Rocket-Cleveland Brown game at the time the change was made.

Amvets Capture Second Straight From Lacy's, 4-3

Gerdeman Hits Triple To Pave Way To Victory

Scores Winning Run On Wild Pitch In 3rd

Norman Gerdeman's triple with two aboard and Ed Decker's wild pitch produced three runs in the third inning and gave the Cumberland Amvets their second straight victory over Lacy's Delicatets in the City Softball League championship series yesterday at Community Park. The score was 4-3.

Allan Sheetz started the winning rally by drawing a pass. Doyle laid down a bunt and beat it out. After Summers sacrificed, Gerdeman belted a three-bagger and scored what proved to be the deciding run when Decker uncorked a wild pitch.

Gerdeman obtained two of the three hits yielded by Decker, batted in three of the Amvets' runs, scored the winning marker and started a snappy double play to stand out as the star of the game. He drove in the first run in the opening frame with a timely double after George walked and moved to second on Summers' sacrifice.

Sheetz gave up eight hits, four of which were shared by Crabtree and Yeider, and registered his 30th victory of the season. It marked the 7th meeting of Sheetz and Decker this season and the latter now holds a 4-3 edge in wins.

Lacy's scored their first run in the third when Wilson forced Yaider after the latter had walked, moved to second on Tommy Geatz's wild throw on an attempted double play and came home on Decker's single. In the 5th Yaider singled, went to second when Decker beat out a bunt and scored on "Babe" Crabtree's base wallop. Yaider's single, Decker's third hit and Crabtree's safety produced the Delicatets' final tally in the top of the 7th.

Decker led Lacy's attack with three singles while Gerdeman paced the winners with a triple and double.

The third game of the best-of-five series will likely be played on Monday at Community Park. Box:

Interstate Title Series To Start Here On Sunday

Moorefield Will Play Legion At Local Park

It's Moorefield versus Cumberland American Legion when the Interstate Baseball League's best-of-three-games championship series gets under way Sunday at 3 p. m. at Community Park.

The final set-up was the same last year and Moorefield made short work of the locals by taking both games, 8-0 and 8-7.

Moorefield reached the finals by knocking off the Romney Rockets in two straight games while Cumberland took a pair from the Hyndman V.F.W.

The finalists met three times during the regular league season and all games were very close. Manager Bill Bracey's club won the opener, 10-8, with Norman Geatz decisioning Dwight Kessell. "Ossie" Raines pitched Moorefield to a 6-5 win over Pat Creegan in the second contest. Creegan, however, came back to win over Raines in the "rubber" game, 9-8.

Geatz, Creegan or Jack Kauffman will be on the firing line for the home team in today's game while Manager Clarence "Hink" Fisher will rely on Raines or Marshall Yeider. Kessell has been bothered with a sore arm and may not get in the series.

The second game of the series is set for Moorefield a week from tomorrow.

Mountaineers To Wear Stockings This Season

For the first time in many seasons, West Virginia University's Mountaineers will wear stockings when they play their opening game with Waynesburg College at Morgantown today.

LESNEVICH SUFFERS INJURY, WITHDRAWS FROM WALCOTT BOUT

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—The Tournament of Champions, boxing promoters, said tonight that the fight between Jersey Joe Walcott, and Gus Lesnevich had been cancelled.

Andy Neiderreiter, spokesman for the T. of C. said that Lesnevich suffered a broken bone in the small toe of his right foot yesterday as he slipped while leaving the postoffice in his hometown of Cliffside, N. J.

Niederreiter said he was seeking an opponent for Walcott. The Walcott-Lesnevich bout was to have been a semi-wind-up on the Sept. 21 card in Jersey City, which features the middleweight title scrap between Marcel Cerdan of France and Champion Tony Zale of Gary, Ind.

Silver Scout Scores 6th Straight Win At Fairgo

Bolton Leads Drivers, Harness Meet Closes

Silver Scout, eight-year-old bay gelding, owned by Mrs. W. H. Thomas, of Ferndale, Pa., extended his winning streak to twelve straight heats by making a clean sweep in the free-for-all pace yesterday at the Fair Grounds as the Cumberland Fair Association's three-day harness race meeting drew to a close.

The Maryland-owned pacer duplicated his performance of Wednesday when he won all three heats and therby boosted his earnings here to $360 for six winning starts. Prior to coming to Fairgo, Silver Scout had won three straight mile races at Ligonier, Pa., and a like number of heats at Ebensburg, Pa. The Thomas gelding has won 13 out of 15 starts this year.

Bolton Leads Drivers

Silver Scout is owned by the widow of William H. Thomas, of Ferndale, Pa., whose efforts were instrumental in reviving harness racing in Maryland. Mr. Thomas died the night the State Legislature passed the racing bill after he had returned to his home from Annapolis.

Walter T. Bolton, of Newark, Del., drove Silver Scout in his six winning starts at Fairgo. Bolton incidentally, led the drivers at the local session by piloting eleven winners in three days.

Silver Scout raced at two tracks this year where pari-mutuel betting is legal and paid big prices both times he won. He returned $42 at Laurel, Md., and $48 for $2 at Harrington, Del.

Jane Czar, Hollenden Win

Jane Czar, owned by George W. Gingell, Emmitsburg, Md., and driven by Bolton, swept all three heats in yesterday's opening event, the 18 trot. Hollenden, owned and driven by Clay Hammer, Everett, Pa., won three straight heats in the 26 trot, final event on the card.

A total of $1,155 was distributed among the horsemen yesterday, boosting the total to $3,475 for the three days.

Bi-State's Top Clubs On Ropes In The Playoffs

Losses Today Will Put Amvets, Frostburg Out

The teams that finished one-two at the close of the regular season in the Bi-State Baseball League are on the ropes and they must win today or be eliminated from the playoffs.

Frostburg's V.F.W. tossers, the No. 1 team, trails in its series with Westvaco, having won one and lost two, and must play at Westernport today in the 4th game of the series. A victory would put the Papermakers in the finals while Frostburg could force the series to the five-game limit by taking today's contest.

The Vets won the series opener, 8-7, then lost the second and third games to Westvaco, 6-4 and 19-4.

Norman Gerdeman's Amvets are in the same position as Frostburg. They won the first game from the Queen City, 9-4, then were floored in the next two games by scores of 10-3 and 6-5. If Queen City whips the league's defending champions at Stitcher Field this afternoon the Brewers will go to the finals. A victory for the Amvets, however, would necessitate the staging of a fifth game to determine the winner.

The championship series will be best-of-seven games.

Diaz, DiUbaldo and C. Warnick will officiate at Westernport today while at Stitcher Field the arbiters will be Johnson, Atkinson and G. Warnick.

Flaherty Released As Yankees' Coach

His resignation, at the request of club president Dan Topping, came less than 24 hours after the Yankees, winners of the Eastern Division in both 1946 and 1947, had lost their third game of the young season.

Topping said that Norman (Red) Strader, Yankee backfield coach, would direct the team for the remainder of the season. Strader, one-time coach at St. Mary's in California, was in Chicago for the Rocket-Cleveland Brown game at the time the change was made.

Braves Buy Pitcher

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Sept. 17. (AP)—The St. Petersburg Saints of the Florida International League have sold Leo Goicoechea, star left-handed pitcher, to the Boston Braves. Amount involved was not announced.

Goicoechea, 23-years old and six feet tall, won 22 games and lost 15 for the fourth-place St. Petersburg club.

Sain Of Braves Turns Back Bucs, Scores 21st Win

Notches 6-2 Victory, Boston Boosts Lead

BOSTON, Sept. 17 (INS) — The league-leading Boston Braves tightened their grip on first place in the National Leagues today as they defeated the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates by a score of 6 to 2.

Johnny Sain, the Braves' big right hander, chalked up his 21st victory of the year and it was also the 26th complete game he has pitched. Vic Lombardi started for the Pirates but gave way to a pinch-hitter in the seventh inning.

The Braves now lead the Pirates by 5½ games. The two teams will play again tomorrow. Box:

CARDINALS MOVE UP

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (INS) — The St. Louis Cardinals took third place in the National League away from Brooklyn and went into a virtual tie with Pittsburgh for second place by beating the Dodgers 4 to 2 today.

Howie Pollet went the route and won, thanks to brilliant support by his mates. Stan Musial robbed three Brooklyn batters of hits with sensational catches, and Country Slaughter, Erv Dusak and Red Schoendienst also starred afield.

The Cards had lost eight straight games to the Dodgers. Box:

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 17—(INS)—That Brisson family! How I love them all!—Rosalind Russell, Freddie, Carl and Cleo Brisson. Roz is as gay as a bird ever since she wore that sensational bright red hat and gown at the circus.

Jimmie Durante

Today she talked with Freddie in New York, who told her that he had just bought a story she wanted very much, called "You Can't Judge a Lady", by John Marshall. Roz, who knows that comedy is really what the public likes, is making "You Can't Judge a Lady" for her own company, with Freddie Brisson, of course, as producer.

When I asked my old friend "Schnozzle" Durante if he had formed an agency with Arthur Michaud to bring back vaudeville, Jimmie said,

"It never died with me. But sure, we're going to bring it back".

What Mr. Hinky-Dink has in mind is to kick off with his old act at the Dallas State Fair. Then he and Michaud will book other talent around the country for the next 16 weeks to see how it goes.

I can tell the boys that I personally think they are on a hot trail. The Palladium in London, where Jack Benny, Danny Kaye, Dinah Shore, Tony Martin and Betty Hutton wowed the British, has never veered from the old fashioned vaudeville policy—and it is the most popular entertainment in England.

Chit-chat: Orry Kelly writes a funny letter from Australia, in which he tell how all the socialites in Perth, dressed to the teeth, gave a tea to welcome Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh.

Larry came without Vivien in a T-shirt and shorts. From then on the leaders of society took the hint and gave no more pink teas.

The reluctance of the Oliviers to go to social functions didn't hurt the box office, for they took in 10,000 pounds a week. The demand for tickets was so great they used a lottery system, and only those who drew lucky numbers were able to buy tickets.

I believe a whole new career will open up for Anna Sten after "Let's Live a Little" is released.

The glamor girl of a few years ago, on whom Sam Goldwyn spent a fortune, has a new warmth in this picture that I never noticed before.

Handsome Frank Shields has that gleam in his eye again. She is Gertrude Moran, tennis champ, now playing in the Forest Hills tennis tournament.

Mrs. Bert Kolmal, who has been living in New York since Bert's death, is home again. She was dining with Eileen Percy and Harry Ruby, her husband's partner for many years.

Congratulations to the Bud Abbots, who celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary Saturday; to Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard, who celebrate 13 years of happy married life next week; to the James Pendletons, who are giving a party September 25 for their 16th anniversary; and to the Norman Brodines, who celebrated 24 years of wedded life last week. Yes, there are people in our town who stay married, and all happy.

The Comedie Francais has made Charles Laughton a tempting offer to remain and do a play in France. He speaks French beautifully and may accept.

The working hours lost annually through accidents in factories are enough to produce two billion pounds of soap, 89 million shirts, and 50 million pairs of shoes.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Answer: Easily, in many cases, even though she cannot change his basic character and disposition. For his habits are only the methods by which he has found he can get certain kinds of satisfaction, and if she can show him better ways to do the same thing he will change without a struggle. Once a man has realized, for instance, how much attention and approval he will get from being well-groomed, he'll have no more desire to be sloppy. But scolding is worse than useless, since it only makes him angry and rebellious.

Answer: There is nobody who "has no feelings." A few men and women have repressed their natural feelings to the point where they are scarcely conscious of them, while others are so afraid someone will take advantage of their "weak spots," they have learned to wear masks which we cannot see through. Neither type is to be envied, since both suffer inner conflicts which make them unhappy or neurotic. Healthy-minded people have learned to express their feelings, but to pick the proper time and place in which to do so.

Answer: It's not easy if you blame yourself for everything that happens, even though you know this is unreasonable. It's because you carry in your mind the image of a parent who will punish you on the least provocation and you want to beat him (or her) to it. You are like a child who has found that he gets off easier by "pleading guilty." One way to make things a little less distressing is to find a "parent substitute" who is more lenient than your actual parents, and find comfort in the fact that he or she does not condemn you.

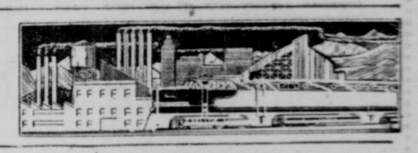
NEWS FROM THE TRI-STATE AREA

KEYSER



Potomac State School Opens For Fall Term

450 Students Are Enrolled At Keyser

KEYSER.—First classes for the fall term at Potomac State School got underway yesterday morning with a total enrollment of 450 students according to Dean K. S. McKee. Of that number 207 are sophomores and 243 freshmen, the college official said.

Everett Gibbs, Keyser Veterans Administration Office, said that 165 male students are attending Potomac State School under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

With the addition of two new faculty members in the Department of Music interest is expected in the forming of a college band and possible orchestra or string ensemble.

Miss Frances D. Sarullo, Greenville, Miss., is a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music with a major in piano and a certificate in voice, is replacing Mrs. Katherine Moore Church. She will instruct in theory, piano and voice.

Carl J. Peterson, a native of Fort Madison, Iowa, who has a bachelors degree from Westchester, Pa. State Teachers College, and a masters degree from Temple Univrsity, will instruct in theory, band, and orchestra instruments. A former music instructor at Princeton, N. J., High School, he was a member of Trenton Symphony orchestra as violinist for two years.

Leonard G. Witchers, head of the Music Department, will instruct in theory and piano as well as direct the Potomac State Singers.

Withers has announced that non-college students may now enroll for instruction in band and orchestra instruments and that they will be eligible for membership in the college band and orchestra or ensemble. Arrangements may be made for one or two lessons a week, he added.

MAYOR REPORTS LAYING OF SEWERS COMPLETED

FROSTBURG — Mayor Marshall C. Skidmore reported yesterday that laying of sewers for the Centennial and Standish Streets areas was completed this week, to give residents of the West Main Street adequate sewer service.

The next project, according to the mayor, is the laying of the large sewer mains and connecting lines to service the eastern area of town including Mt. Pleasant, East Main, McCulloh, Washington and Sleeman Streets.

The pipe is here, the mayor said, but the work can not be started until the arrival of metal bands for connecting the pipes at the joints.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Miss Zorka Krnayo, who passed away September 18, 1944.
We watched her breathing thru the night,
As in her breast the wave of life
Kept heaving to and fro,
Our fears our hopes belied;
We thought her dying when she slept
And sleeping when she died.
Sadly missed by her
Father, Mother, Brother and Sister.

In memory of our dear, beloved husband, and father, George Kreitzburg, who passed away one year ago today, September 18th, 1947.

Your memory is as dear today
As in the hour you passed away.
To have, to hold and then to part

And free from care and pain,
This world would seem like heaven,
If we had you back again.

Sadly missed by his Wife and Daughter.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Miss Zorka Krnayo, who passed away September 18, 1944.
We watched her breathing thru the night,
Her breathing soft and low,
As in her breast the wave of life
Kept heaving to and fro,
Our very hopes belied our fears;
Our fears our hopes belied;
We thought her dying when she slept
And sleeping when she died.
Sadly missed by her
Father, Mother, Brother and Sister.

In memory of our dear, beloved husband, and father, George Kreitzburg, who passed away one year ago today, September 18th, 1947.

Your memory is as dear today
As in the hour you passed away.
To have, to hold and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of our hearts.

Although your soul is now at rest,
And free from care and pain,
This world would seem like heaven,
If we had you back again.

Sadly missed by his Wife and Daughter.

Slow Settling In Market Carries Prices Low; Rails Show Weakness

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP) — A slow settling in the stock market today carried prices lower with railroad issues showing the most weakness.

No group in the list broke out of the narrow range of trading to any appreciable extent until the rails in the final hour sold lower.

Trading was on a selective basis with attention being paid to individual issues rather than to groups of stocks, with the exception of rails. They were the strongest on average yesterday under the influence of a 3⅛ rise in Santa Fe, and today they were weakest with Santa Fe leading the move. It closed off 1⅞ at 117¾ after an early rise toward a new high for the year.

Illinois Central and Union Pacific were off one, and Great Northern preferred and Baltimore and Ohio lost five-eighths.

Utilities were mixed. Consolidated Natural Gas gained three-fourths at 45½, and Brooklyn Union Gas hit a new high for the year at 23¾, up five-eighths. A block of 11,700 shares of General Public Utility sold off three-eighths, and the stock closed at 12¾ off one-eighth.

Pepsi-Cola slipped to a new low for the year but recovered to close at 10½, off three-fourths on the day. It was the most actively traded stock with a volume of 27,300 shares.

American and Foreign Power common, the second most actively traded issue with a volume of 22,300, dropped 1⅜ to a new low for the year of 1⅝. American and Foreign Power second preferred with a loss of 3¼ at 7¾ was the fifth most active.

A reorganization plan for the company was approved by the Federal District Court in Portland, Maine. The company's $6 and $7 preferred gained more than two, reflecting a bitter settlement for holders under the plan.

A third new low for the year was set by Cudahy, off three-eighths at 9½. It joined Armour and Swift in that category. They, along with Wilson, are the "Big Four" packing companies facing a civil anti-trust suit filed by the Justice Department in Chicago.

Slow Settling In Market Carries Prices Low; Rails Show Weakness

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP) — A slow settling in the stock market today carried prices lower with railroad issues showing the most weakness.

No group in the list broke out of the narrow range of trading to any appreciable extent until the rails in the final hour sold lower.

Trading was on a selective basis with attention being paid to individual issues rather than to groups of stocks, with the exception of rails. They were the strongest on average yesterday under the influence of a 3¼ rise in Santa Fe, and today they were weakest with Santa Fe leading the move. It closed off 1⅞ at 117¾ after an early rise toward a new high for the year.

Illinois Central and Union Pacific were off one, and Great Northern preferred and Baltimore and Ohio lost five-eighths.

Utilities were mixed. Consolidated Natural Gas gained three-fourths at 45½, and Brooklyn Union Gas hit a new high for the year at 23¾, up five-eighths. A block of 11,700 shares of General Public Utility sold off three-eighths, and the stock closed at 12⅜ off one-eighth.

Pepsi-Cola slipped to a new low for the year but recovered to close at 10½, off three-fourths on the day. It was the most actively traded stock with a volume of 27,300 shares.

American and Foreign Power common, the second most actively traded issue with a volume of 22,300, dropped 1⅝ to a new low for the year of 1⅝. American and Foreign Power second preferred with a loss of 3¼ at 7⅜ was the fifth most active.

A reorganization plan for the company was approved by the Federal District Court in Portland, Maine. The company's $6 and $7 preferred gained more than two, reflecting a bitter settlement for holders under the plan.

A third new low for the year was set by Cudahy, off three-eighths at 9½. It joined Armour and Swift in that category. They, along with Wilson, are the "Big Four" packing companies facing a civil anti-trust suit filed by the Justice Department in Chicago.

Thief Wins Crash

BENTON, Ill. — (AP) — A motor agency reported a 1948 automobile had been stolen from its garage the hard way. The thief drove the car through a closed door. The crash awakened nearby residents. The car was found a few hours later, abandoned, badly damaged and out of gas.

Youthful Pair Arrested After Police Chase

Elude Officer By "Pointing" Weapon

A 20-year-old Pennsylvania steel worker and his intended 18-year-old bride were in jail last night after once eluding police when the youth pointed "what appeared to be a service pistol" at the investigating officer.

Booked as Thomas Ritenour, Star Junction, Pa., and Betty Louise Urzita, Jacob Creek, Pa., police said the chase started after the pair eluded Trooper Harry S. Bosley who was sent to Winchester Road to investigate a parked car at 9 p. m.

Bosley said he found the car parked in a wooded section off of the road and pulled along side the car to demand that the pair get out. The girl, Trooper Bosley said, wakened Ritenour who was sleeping on the front seat.

Believes Gun Pointed

Without answering the trooper, Ritenour raised his head to the window and pointed what Trooper Bosley said was a pistol over the window. Ritenour did not answer the trooper's command but backed the car out to the road after the trooper had pulled out of range of the alleged pistol.

The pair escaped from Trooper Bosley as he turned his cruiser around and was not seen again until Officer Louis Downey, Cumberland Police Department, spotted the car parked in the 500-block on North Mechanic Street shortly after 10 p. m.

City police who made the arrest said the couple was sitting in the car crouched down so that Officer Downey at first thought the car was empty. A search of the youth, his girl and the car failed to reveal the gun, police said.

Questioned briefly at headquarters, the girl told authorities they came here last weekend to obtain a marriage license and get married. Police found among their personal effects a marriage license issued last Monday at the Allegany County Court House.

The girl denied that Ritenour pointed a gun at Trooper Bosley and said they have been sleeping in the car each night and driving around the area in the day.

Ritenour Not Questioned

Ritenour, who was not questioned, entered police headquarters handcuffed and asked why he was taken into custody.

When booked he collaborated the girl's story that they came here to be married last weekend. Detective Ernest Powell who with Downey arrested the pair, aided in the questioning which was conducted by First Sgt. W. E. O'Hara, Maryland State Police.

Sgt. O'Hara ordered the pair held at city jail "for Maryland State Police" until further information can be secured from Pennsylvania authorities.

Police indicated they will be questioned further this morning.

State Officers To Attend Legion Picnic

State Commander Jack Carman, Joppa, State Adjutant Jack Tribby, Baltimore, National Executive Committeeman Harry Allen, Laurel, and Alternate Floyd Feet, Brunswick, will be among American Legion officials to attend tomorrow's annual picnic of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, at Fairgo.

Beginning at 11 a. m., a program of games, sports and contests, climaxed by hot and cold food will get underway. Members of the post may bring their families and each member may bring one prospective member.

The affair opens the annual membership drive of Post 13, according to Commander Paul C. Weisenmiller.

The Weather

The sun should shine on the new Training Center and its visitors today. The weatherman says that the temperature will be even higher than yesterday's 83. Late last night's 66 was definite improvement over the preeding night's 52-degree low.

CAB Action May Lead To Local Air Service

Senator Herbert R. O'Conor yesterday informed the Cumberland News that a CAB decision should clear the way for the initiation of air service from the Cumberland Municipal Airport to Baltimore and Fittsburgh soon.

In his telegram Senator O'Conor said he had been advised by the CAB that the application of All American Aviation to suspend pickup service on Route 49 has been approved.

"This should clear the way," he added, "for the initiation of air service from the Cumberland airport to Baltimore and Pittsburgh in the near future," adding he was "anxious to help further any plans for increasing the use of the Cumberland aviation facilities."

Barton Residents Ask Reopening Of Old Bridge

Span Was Closed Several Years Ago

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday authorized John T. Fey, attorney to the board, to contact William Claus, formerly general manager of the C. and P. Railroad, in an effort to form plans for the reopening of the Flat Rock Bridge at Barton.

Fey said Barton area residents have complained that since the bridge was closed several years ago in a federal crossing elimination project they have had to make a four-mile detour in entering and leaving town.

The bridge led directly into a railroad crossing, Fey said, adding that residents claimed it was a dangerous situation since a bank obscured the motorist's view of the tracks at that point.

Fey said he would attempt to determine whether the bank could be removed at the expense of the county with the co-operation of the railroad and Federal government, and the bridge re-opened.

A reliable source said last night that an additional flasher signal would have to be installed at the crossing if it were to be reopened. The same source indicated doubt that the project could be accomplished without considerable expense.

It was reported that only three or four trains normally pass over that part of the line daily.

Garland Chaney appeared before the board yesterday and asked for repairs to a road running from Bowling Avenue to McMullen Highway. He was referred to Acting County Engineer John G. Smith.

John Cross Injured In Bicycle Mishap

John Cross, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cross, 843 Gephart Drive, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday for a laceration on his forehead received when the bicycle which he was riding capsized.

The condition of John Null, 87, Ridgeley, W. Va., who was admitted to the same hospital at 10:30 a. m. yesterday, was said to be satisfactory last night. He suffered a fractured left hip when he fell from a six foot wall while cutting grass.

Fraternal Members Will Give Talks

Representatives of three local groups will take part in a 15-minute panel discussion on "Freedom As It Concerns Fraternal Organizations," to be broadcast today at 5:45 p. m. over Station WCUM.

They are Rabbi Herbert J. Wilner, recently appointed to fill the pulpit of B'er Chayim Congregation, who will represent Western Maryland Lodge No. 1507, B'nai B'rith; Harry Stegmaier, past grand knight of Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus; Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks.

"Children's Day" Today As Annual Fair Closes

Joie Chitwood Show Set This Afternoon

Today has been set aside as "Children's Day" at Fairgo as the 31st Annual Greater Cumberland Fair draws to a close.

Fair officials have announced that prices of the various rides at the carnival on the Midway will be reduced for children today.

The big feature of the program will be the Joie Chitwood show at 2:15 p. m. Chitwood, a well-known daredevil driver, has announced he will attempt to break his own world's record for broad-jumping a car over a transcontinental bus and seven parked cars.

The stunt driver was AAA Eastern Big Car champion in 1939 and 1940. He has driven in six 500-mile races at Indianapolis. One of his better-known stunts is driving and racing on two wheels for several hundred yards.

Buddy Toomey, Washington, former understudy of the late Lucky Teter, and Don Forrester, Langhorne, Pa., and Dale O'Brien, Chicago, will appear with the show.

Forrester and O'Brien will race two motorcycles down the straightaway and drive directly into flaming plankwalls in one event. In another, they will play a game of high-speed leapfrog, broad-jumping one moving machine over another.

Other stunt drivers featured in the show are Hal Kent, Glendale, Calif., Ellis "Buttercup" Pierce, Jacksonville, Fla., motorcycle champion; Jimmy "Buck" Mason, Richmond, Va., former car racing driver, and Nick Francis, motor clown from St. Louis, Mo.

Four Local Men Hurt In Crash

Four Cumberland men were injured two seriously last night in an automobile accident that occurred on Route 220 four miles east of Centerville as they were returning from a football game in Bedford, Pa.

Admitted to Allegany Hospital and described by police as seriously hurt, were Edward Huff, 446 Central Avenue and Thomas Kabosky, 323 Emily Street. Treated were Murland Hartsock, 412 Central Avenue and Donald Ritter, 306 Woodside avenue.

Trooper A. M. Spioch who investigated the accident said Hartsock was operating the machine when it failed to negotiate a sharp curve and careened over an embankment. The car turned over he said.

The four men were taken to Allegany Hospital by Cecil Growden, Bedford Valley, a passing motorist. Attaches at the hospital early this morning said the men's injuries were not yet diagnosed.

Trooper Spioch said since the accident occurred on the Pennsylvania side of the state line the information would be turned over to Pennsylvania State Police.

Traffic Corrections Are Made On Greene Street

The city's reorganized Traffic Bureau yesterday extended its program to include Greene and South Mechanic Streets where measures will be enforced to eliminate accidents and speed the flow of traffic from the main artery.

An "S" curve on the eastern end of Greene Street will be divided by a white medial strip along with an adjacent yellow line indicating the continuation of the curve.

Traffic officials said the curve which breaks in front of River Side Park has been the scene of numerous accidents recently because motorists, especially out-of-state drivers, mistake the entrance to the park as a continuation of the road.

The white line will tend to keep all motorists on their own side of the road, according to officials, while the yellow line will indicate that the curve continues and the road does not enter into the park.

The yellow line is in accordance with state motor regulations for marking all curves.

On South Mechanic Street, a safety zone will be established in front of the Western Maryland warehouse where long existing parking restrictions will now be strictly enforced.

The safety zone will provide a walk way for pedestrians, and restrictions will forbid even temporary stopping of vehicles to discharge or take on passengers.

The elimination of parked automobiles and the sudden stops that have frequently been made there will also end traffic congestion that extends back to Baltimore Street and ties up traffic at the Baltimore-Mechanic Street intersection.

Yesterday, new routing of traffic over Henderson Avenue and Park Streets was initiated, providing middle lanes for all traffic that will cross the frequently blocked railroad crossing.

Local Real Estate Group Presented Historic Gavel

The Cumberland Real Estate Board was presented a historic gavel by the National Association of Real Estate Boards at a dinner meeting at Ali Ghan Country Club in observance of Constitution Day.

James Alfred Avirett, local attorney who was the principal speaker, told the organization of the part George Washington played in developing the Constitution.

Gavels were presented by the national group yesterday to member boards as mementos of World War II and of the services given by realtors during the war years.

The wood in the gavel and box came from George Washington's home at Mount Vernon and Thomas Jefferson's home at Monticello. The steel is from the battleship USS Missouri, on whose quarterdeck the Japanese agreement of surrender was signed by General of the Army Douglas MacArthur and Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz on September 2, 1945.

On November 15, 1946, the national association was presented with the material by the Mount Vernon Ladies Association, the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation and the Navy. About a year and a half was required to season the wood.

The dinner was followed by a business meeting. The fourteen members present made plans to attend a sales conference of the Real Estate Board of Baltimore and a state association meeting on September 30. Howard M. Spiker was introduced as a new member of the board.

Janoske Freed On $10,000 Bond In Band Mishap

Preston Grand Jury Will Hear Case

Wade Janoske, 24-year-old Oakland man, was released this week on $10,000 bond for the October grand jury in Preston County after having been held in the Kingwood, W. Va., County Jail since September 4, when the car he was driving crashed into the Terra Alta High School Band as the young musicians were forming for a parade in Terra Alta, Preston County authorities said last night.

A hearing on a writ of habeas corpus, filed in Preston County last week, was held before Judge C. P. Wilhelm last Friday.

This resulted in a reduction of the bond from $20,000 to $10,000. The amount was raised by the young man's father, Greeley Janoske.

The younger Janoske is represented by Walter W. Dawson, Oakland, former state's attorney of Garrett County.

Eddie Pilchard, 13-year-old band member who suffered a broken leg and hip injury in the accident and was previously listed as in critical condition, was reported "getting along fine" last night in Monongalia General Hospital, Morgantown, W. Va.

Hospital attaches said two other young band musicians hurt in the accident, Kitty Lou Markwood, 15, and Noel Browning, 16, were also "getting along fine."

Celanese Head Attacks Proposed Water Rate Hike

If the price of water charged the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America is raised to a marked degree by the city, the plant will discontinue the use of city water to a large extent, Fred T. Small, plant manager, said yesterday.

Small made the comment on being questioned about the proposal made Monday by Mayor Thomas S. Post to increase the rates to out-of-city users by 50 per cent.

The Celanese is the largest single user of city water either in or out of Cumberland and for the year ending last month the company paid the city $45,113.75 for water, Small said.

"In the event the rates become too high," said Small, "we will carry out our plans to construct our own treatment plant for Potomac River water. Plans for the construction of such a unit have been completed for sometime and it is just a question of having the work done."

He recalled that when the plant was first erected and arrangements made for an extension of the city water line, the company suggested that the line be made larger and paid for the increased cost amounting to $20,000. This payment was made in 1930.

In addition to the Celanese the chief out-of-city users of water are Bowling Green, Potomac Park, Ridgeley, and Wiley Ford.

Mayor Post, when apprised of Small's statement, hastened to explain that his remarks of Monday referred only to out-of-town domestic users and not to industrial users. The mayor, however, did not make the distinction at Monday's council meeting.

Police Probe Murder Story Of Local Man

Find Many Flaws In Verbal Confession

A verbal murder confession by Edward H. Miller, 38-year-old Cumberland man held in North Caroline on a forgery charge, was being cautiously probed last night by Maryland State Police, who said there are many flaws in the ex-convict's statement.

Miller, who is also wanted here on charges of passing a worthless $1,700 check, told North Carolina authorities during questioning that he killed Thomas Akel with a hammer near the Oldtown toll bridge on August 28.

Associated With Akel

Maryland State authorities identified Akel as a Reading, Pa., man with whom Miller was associating in Cumberland in late August when the $1,700 check was passed on a local garage in transaction for a new automobile.

The Maryland police said they were informed that Miller made a verbal confession in North Carolina telling how he fatally beat Akel with a hammer and then shoved his body for the car near the Oldtown toll bridge.

An immediate check of the Oldtown area, however, failed to disclose a body, and authorities said they believe Miller made the statement hoping to be transfrred back to Cumberland and escape prosecution on the forgery charge in North Carolina.

Police said that information not yet verified indicates that Akel parted company with Miller while they were still in Cumberland with the latter taking the car and driving South accompanied by a niece, Miss Phyllis Thrasher, 21, this city.

The Thrasher girl was in Miller's company at the time he was arrested in North Carolina, but she was not detained, Maryland Police said, adding however, that the girl is still in the southern state awaiting transportation back to Cumberland.

Neither the girl nor Akel were involved in the check passed here, authorities said, and Miller claimed she was not aware that he killed Akel. Maryland Police said they do not know if the North Carolina police questioned her after getting Miller's confession.

Send Police To N. C.

While police continued to investigate local clues, two Maryland State Troopers, Cpl. Harry Holsinger and William Baker, were dispatched to West Jefferson, N. C., where Miller is being held, to question him further and return the car obtained by the forged check here.

One theory that caused Maryland Police to doubt Miller's confession, they said, is that several person-to-person long distance telephone calls to Cumberland for Akel were traced and Miller was identified as the person calling. The calls occurred after August 28.

Akel roomed at a local hotel while he was in the city, police said, adding that he checked out of the hotel about the time the worthless check was passed.

Police said Miller was paroled less than two months ago from a Federal prison where he was serving time after being convicted on a "white slavery" charge.

Meanwhile local authorities were searching for Akel who they said is not wanted on any charge but location of him would disprove Miller's statement.

Local Men To Attend United Jewish Appeal Conference In Baltimore

More than 250 Jewish leaders, representing 26 Maryland communities, will meet Sunday at the Hotel Southern in Baltimore for a regional conference in connection with the $250,000,000 United Jewish Appeal.

Dr. Samuel Jacobson, this city, will head the conference resolutions committee. Another local man, Sumner A. Hirsch, will also participate in the conference.

Maj. Gen. John H. Hilldring, who played an important part last November in winning United Nations approval for the partition of Palestine, leading to the establishment of Israel, will give the principal address.

Other speakers will be Harold Katz, Navy veteran who was imprisoned by the British last winter for serving as a crew member aboard the blockade-running immigrant ship "Hatikvah;" and Mrs. Harry Kairys, Baltimore, executive committee member of the United Jewish Appeal's national women's division.

Lee L. Dopkin, Baltimore, conference chairman, will preside.

The regional conference will be followed immediately by large-scale community drives in behalf of the $250,000,000 United Jewish Appeal for refugees, overseas needs and Palestine.

Conference delegates will consider the current requirements of the United Jewish Appeal's three constituent agencies — the Joint Distribution Committee, United Palestine Appeal and the United Service for New Americans—as the basis for adoption of measures providing relief, rehabilitation, resettlement and reconstruction assistance to distressed Jews in Europe, to the new Jewish Republic, and to refugees arriving in the United States.

The United Jewish Appeal, with former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., as general chairman, will be the principal beneficiary of community campaigns conducted in this state. Local goals are expected to top any previously set in this region.

The 26 Maryland communities to be represented at the conference include Aberdeen, Annapolis, Bel Air, Brunswick, Cambridge, Centerville, Chestertown, Crisfield, Cumberland, Easton, Elkton, Federalsburg, Frederick, Galena, Hagerstown, Hancock, Havre de Grace, Leonardtown, Millingtown, Pocomoke City, Rock Hall, Queenstown, Salisbury, Stevensville, Upper Marlboro and Westminster.

Besides Dr. Jacobson and Mr. Hirsch, other local men planning to attend the session are George Ossip, president of Cumberland Chapter, Zionist Organization of America; Robert Kaplon, president of the Western Maryland Jewish Welfare Fund committee; and Norman Pliner.

Youthful Pair Arrested After Police Chase

Elude Officer By "Pointing" Weapon

A 20-year-old Pennsylvania steel worker and his intended 18-year-old bride were in jail last night after once eluding police when the youth pointed "what appeared to be a service pistol" at the investigating officer.

Booked as Thomas Ritenour, Star Junction, Pa., and Betty Louise Urzita, Jacob Creek, Pa., police said the chase started after the pair eluded Trooper Harry S. Bosley who was sent to Winchester Road to investigate a parked car at 9 p. m.

Bosley said he found the car parked in a wooded section off of the road and pulled along side the car to demand that the pair get out. The girl, Trooper Bosley said, wakened Ritenour who was sleeping on the front seat.

Believes Gun Pointed

Without answering the trooper, Ritenour raised his head to the window and pointed what Trooper Bosley said was a pistol over the window. Ritenour did not answer the trooper's command but backed the car out to the road after the trooper had pulled out of range of the alleged pistol.

The pair escaped from Trooper Bosley as he turned his cruiser around and was not seen again until Officer Louis Downey, Cumberland Police Department, spotted the car parked in the 500-block on North Mechanic Street shortly after 10 p. m.

City police who made the arrest said the couple was sitting in the car crouched down so that Officer Downey at first thought the car was empty. A search of the youth, his girl and the car failed to reveal the gun, police said.

Questioned briefly at headquarters, the girl told authorities they came here last weekend to obtain a marriage license and get married. Police found among their personal effects a marriage license issued last Monday at the Allegany County Court House.

The girl denied that Ritenour pointed a gun at Trooper Bosley and said they have been sleeping in the car each night and driving around the area in the day.

Ritenour Not Questioned

Ritenour, who was not questioned, entered police headquarters handcuffed and asked why he was taken into custody.

When booked he collaborated the girl's story that they came here to be married last weekend. Detective Ernest Powell who with Downey arrested the pair, aided in the questioning which was conducted by First Sgt. W. E. O'Hara, Maryland State Police.

Sgt. O'Hara ordered the pair held at city jail "for Maryland State Police" until further information can be secured from Pennsylvania authorities.

A check with the Pennsylvania Motor Vehicle Commission at the height of the search for the pair, indicated that Ritenour is the rightful owner of the car.

Police indicated they will be questioned further this morning.

In his telegram Senator O'Conor said he had been advised by the CAB that the application of All American Aviation to suspend pickup service on Route 49 has been approved.

"This should clear the way," he added, "for the initiation of air service from the Cumberland airport to Baltimore and Fittsburgh in the near future," adding he was "anxious to help further any plans for increasing the use of the Cumberland aviation facilities."

Barton Residents Ask Reopening Of Old Bridge

Span Was Closed Several Years Ago

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday authorized John T. Fey, attorney to the board, to contact William Claus, formerly general manager of the C. and P. Railroad, in an effort to form plans for the reopening of the Flat Rock Bridge at Barton.

Fey said Barton area residents have complained that since the bridge was closed several years ago in a federal crossing elimination project they have had to make a four-mile detour in entering and leaving town.

The bridge led directly into a railroad crossing, Fey said, adding that residents claimed it was a dangerous situation since a bank obscured the motorist's view of the tracks at that point.

Fey said he would attempt to determine whether the bank could be removed at the expense of the county with the co-operation of the railroad and Federal government, and the bridge re-opened.

A reliable source said last night that an additional flasher signal would have to be installed at the crossing if it were to be reopened. The same source indicated doubt that the project could be accomplished without considerable expense.

It was reported that only three or four trains normally pass over that part of the line daily.

Garland Chaney appeared before the board yesterday and asked for repairs to a road running from Bowling Avenue to McMullen Highway. He was referred to Acting County Engineer John G. Smith.

John Cross Injured In Bicycle Mishap

John Cross, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cross, 843 Gephart Drive, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday for a laceration on his forehead received when the bicycle which he was riding capsized.

The condition of John Null, 87, Ridgeley, W. Va., who was admitted to the same hospital at 10:30 a. m. yesterday, was said to be satisfactory last night. He suffered a fractured left hip when he fell from a six foot wall while cutting grass.

Ira Shanholtz, 146 Fayette Street, was admitted at the same hospital Thursday afternoon after he cut his right index finger on a knife at the Celanese plant. Attaches said the tendons were severed.

Mrs. Ruth Lease, 32, of 12 Hampton Place, sustained a dislocated left ankle Thursday when she stepped from a porch on to a boardwalk at home. She was taken to Memorial Hospital.

"Children's Day" Today As Annual Fair Closes

Joie Chitwood Show Set This Afternoon

Today has been set aside as "Children's Day" at Fairgo as the 31st Annual Greater Cumberland Fair draws to a close.

Fair officials have announced that prices of the various rides at the carnival on the Midway will be reduced for children today.

The big feature of the program will be the Joie Chitwood show at 2:15 p. m. Chitwood, a well-known daredevil driver, has announced he will attempt to break his own world's record for broad-jumping a car over a transcontinental bus and seven parked cars.

The stunt driver was AAA Eastern Big Car champion in 1939 and 1940. He has driven in six 500-mile races at Indianapolis. One of his better-known stunts is driving and racing on two wheels for several hundred yards.

Buddy Toomey, Washington, former understudy of the late Lucky Teter, and Don Forrester, Langhorne, Pa., and Dale O'Brien, Chicago, will appear with the show.

Forrester and O'Brien will race two motorcycles down the straightaway and drive directly into flaming plankwalls in one event. In another, they will play a game of high-speed leapfrog, broad-jumping one moving machine over another.

Other stunt drivers featured in the show are Hal Kent, Glendale, Calif., Ellis "Buttercup" Pierce, Jacksonville, Fla., motorcycle champion; Jimmy "Buck" Mason, Richmond, Va., former car racing driver, and Nick Francis, motor clown from St. Louis, Mo.

A total of 23 events will be included in the show.

Four Local Men Hurt In Crash

Four Cumberland men were injured two seriously last night in an automobile accident that occurred on Route 220 four miles east of Centerville as they were returning from a football game in Bedford, Pa.

Admitted to Allegany Hospital and described by police as seriously hurt, were Edward Huff, 446 Central Avenue and Thomas Kabosky, 323 Emily Street. Treated were Murland Hartsock, 412 Central Avenue and Donald Ritter, 306 Woodside avenue.

Trooper A. M. Spioch who investigated the accident said Hartsock was operating the machine when it failed to negotiate a sharp curve and careened over an embankment. The car turned over he said.

The four men were taken to Allegany Hospital by Cecil Growden, Bedford Valley, a passing motorist. Attaches at the hospital early this morning said the men's injuries were not yet diagnosed.

Trooper Spioch said since the accident occurred on the Pennsylvania side of the state line the information would be turned over to Pennsylvania State Police.

Traffic Corrections Are Made On Greene Street

The city's reorganized Traffic Bureau yesterday extended its program to include Greene and South Mechanic Streets where measures will be enforced to eliminate accidents and speed the flow of traffic from the main artery.

An "S" curve on the eastern end of Greene Street will be divided by a white medial strip along with an adjacent yellow line indicating the continuation of the curve.

Traffic officials said the curve which breaks in front of River Side Park has been the scene of numerous accidents recently because motorists, especially out-of-state drivers, mistake the entrance to the park as a continuation of the road.

The white line will tend to keep all motorists on their own side of the road, according to officials, while the yellow line will indicate that the curve continues and the road does not enter into the park.

The yellow line is in accordance with state motor regulations for marking all curves.

On South Mechanic Street, a safety zone will be established in front of the Western Maryland warehouse where long existing parking restrictions will now be strictly enforced.

The safety zone will provide a walk way for pedestrians, and restrictions will forbid even temporary stopping of vehicles to discharge or take on passengers.

The elimination of parked automobiles and the sudden stops that have frequently been made there will also end traffic congestion that extends back to Baltimore Street and ties up traffic at the Baltimore-Mechanic Street intersection.

Yesterday, new routing of traffic over Henderson Avenue and Park Streets was initiated, providing middle lanes for all traffic that will cross the frequently blocked railroad crossing.

Food Costs Are Slightly Lower

Food costs were down a bit in Cumberland this week, according to the weekly food basket of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Items included in the survey cost $8.65 yesterday as contrasted to last week's cost of $8.82. Slight changes in the prices of meat and oranges are responsible for the decrease. In June prices hit a record high of $9.31 for the 15 items checked.

Janoske Freed On $10,000 Bond In Band Mishap

Preston Grand Jury Will Hear Case

Wade Janoske, 24-year-old Oakland man, was released this week on $10,000 bond for the October grand jury in Preston County after having been held in the Kingwood, W. Va., County Jail since September 4, when the car he was driving crashed into the Terra Alta High School Band as the young musicians were forming for a parade in Terra Alta, Preston County authorities said last night.

Four persons were seriously injured in the crash, and about 15 others were treated for minor injuries at the scene.

Janoske faces a charge of felonious assault by automobile, authorities said.

A hearing on a writ of habeas corpus, filed in Preston County last week, was held before Judge C. P. Wilhelm last Friday.

This resulted in a reduction of the bond from $20,000 to $10,000. The amount was raised by the young man's father, Greeley Janoske.

The younger Janoske is represented by Walter W. Dawson, Oakland, former state's attorney of Garrett County.

Eddie Pilchard, 13-year-old band member who suffered a broken leg and hip injury in the accident and was previously listed as in critical condition, was reported "getting along fine" last night in Monongalia General Hospital, Morgantown, W. Va.

Hospital attaches said two other young band musicians hurt in the accident, Kitty Lou Markwood, 15, and Noel Browning, 16, were also "getting along fine."

Celanese Head Attacks Proposed Water Rate Hike

If the price of water charged the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America is raised to a marked degree by the city, the plant will discontinue the use of city water to a large extent, Fred T. Small, plant manager, said yesterday.

Small made the comment on being questioned about the proposal made Monday by Mayor Thomas S. Post to increase the rates to out-of-city users by 50 per cent.

The Celanese is the largest single user of city water either in or out of Cumberland and for the year ending last month the company paid the city $45,113.75 for water, Small said.

"In the event the rates become too high," said Small, "we will carry out our plans to construct our own treatment plant for Potomac River water. Plans for the construction of such a unit have been completed for sometime and it is just a question of having the work done."

He recalled that when the plant was first erected and arrangements made for an extension of the city water line, the company suggested that the line be made larger and paid for the increased cost amounting to $20,000. This payment was made in 1930.

In addition to the Celanese the chief out-of-city users of water are Bowling Green, Potomac Park, Ridgeley, and Wiley Ford.

Mayor Post, when apprised of Small's statement, hastened to explain that his remarks of Monday referred only to out-of-town domestic users and not to industrial users. The mayor, however, did not make the distinction at Monday's council meeting.

Police Probe Murder Story Of Local Man

Find Many Flaws In Verbal Confession

A verbal murder confession by Edward H. Miller, 38-year-old Cumberland man held in North Caroline on a forgery charge, was being cautiously probed last night by Maryland State Police, who said there are many flaws in the ex-convict's statement.

Miller, who is also wanted here on charges of passing a worthless $1,700 check, told North Carolina authorities during questioning that he killed Thomas Akel with a hammer near the Oldtown toll bridge on August 28.

Associated With Akel

Maryland State authorities identified Akel as a Reading, Pa., man with whom Miller was associating in Cumberland in late August when the $1,700 check was passed on a local garage in transaction for a new automobile.

The Maryland police said they were informed that Miller made a verbal confession in North Carolina telling how he fatally beat Akel with a hammer and then shoved his body for the car near the Oldtown toll bridge.

An immediate check of the Oldtown area, however, failed to disclose a body, and authorities said they believe Miller made the statement hoping to be transfrred back to Cumberland and escape prosecution on the forgery charge in North Carolina.

Police said that information not yet verified indicates that Akel parted company with Miller while they were still in Cumberland with the latter taking the car and driving South accompanied by a niece, Miss Phyllis Thrasher, 21, this city.

The Thrasher girl was in Miller's company at the time he was arrested in North Carolina, but she was not detained, Maryland Police said, adding however, that the girl is still in the southern state awaiting transportation back to Cumberland.

Neither the girl nor Akel were involved in the check passed here, authorities said, and Miller claimed she was not aware that he killed Akel. Maryland Police said they do not know if the North Carolina police questioned her after getting Miller's confession.

Send Police To N. C.

While police continued to investigate local clues, two Maryland State Troopers, Cpl. Harry Holsinger and William Baker, were dispatched to West Jefferson, N. C., where Miller is being held, to question him further and return the car obtained by the forged check here.

One theory that caused Maryland Police to doubt Miller's confession, they said, is that several person-to-person long distance telephone calls to Cumberland for Akel were traced and Miller was identified as the person calling. The calls occurred after August 28.

Akel roomed at a local hotel while he was in the city, police said, adding that he checked out of the hotel about the time the worthless check was passed.

Police said Miller was paroled less than two months ago from a Federal prison where he was serving time after being convicted on a "white slavery" charge.

Meanwhile local authorities were searching for Akel who they said is not wanted on any charge but location of him would disprove Miller's statement.

Local Men To Attend United Jewish Appeal Conference In Baltimore

More than 250 Jewish leaders, representing 26 Maryland communities, will meet Sunday at the Hotel Southern in Baltimore for a regional conference in connection with the $250,000,000 United Jewish Appeal.

Dr. Samuel Jacobson, this city, will head the conference resolutions committee. Another local man, Sumner A. Hirsch, will also participate in the conference.

Maj. Gen. John H. Hilldring, who played an important part last November in winning United Nations approval for the partition of Palestine, leading to the establishment of Israel, will give the principal address.

Other speakers will be Harold Katz, Navy veteran who was imprisoned by the British last winter for serving as a crew member aboard the blockade-running immigrant ship "Hatikvah;" and Mrs. Harry Kairys, Baltimore, executive committee member of the United Jewish Appeal's national women's division.

The regional conference will be followed immediately by large-scale community drives in behalf of the $250,000,000 United Jewish Appeal for refugees, overseas needs and Palestine.

Conference delegates will consider the current requirements of the United Jewish Appeal's three constituent agencies — the Joint Distribution Committee, United Palestine Appeal and the United Service for New Americans—as the basis for adoption of measures providing relief, rehabilitation, resettlement and reconstruction assistance to distressed Jews in Europe, to the new Jewish Republic, and to refugees arriving in the United States.

The United Jewish Appeal, with former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., as general chairman, will be the principal beneficiary of community campaigns conducted in this state. Local goals are expected to top any previously set in this region.

The 26 Maryland communities to be represented at the conference include Aberdeen, Annapolis, Bel Air, Brunswick, Cambridge, Centerville, Chestertown, Crisfield, Cumberland, Easton, Elkton, Federalsburg, Frederick, Galena, Hagerstown, Hancock, Havre de Grace, Leonardtown, Millingtown, Pocomoke City, Rock Hall, Queenstown, Salisbury, Stevensville, Upper Marlboro and Westminster.

Besides Dr. Jacobson and Mr. Hirsch, other local men planning to attend the session are George Ossip, president of Cumberland Chapter, Zionist Organization of America; Robert Kaplon, president of the Western Maryland Jewish Welfare Fund committee; and Norman Pliner.

All are members of the executive committee of the Welfare Fund.
